Democracy and Millions A Cart Horse Mother "Best Girl" Qualities Grateful and Dying

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1920.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is on a trip in a special train. One car, clear of furniture, is taken along as a playground for the children. Wisely, Mr. Rockefeller asked newspaper photographers not to make pictures of his children, saying: "It is hard enough to keep children democratic these days without having their pictures in the newspapers."

It must be very hard to keep children democratic when they travel with a whole train of cars to themselves and observe officials of cities coming down to the station, almost (not quite) on their hands and knees before the greatest fortune in the world.

Some grandchildren of the late Jay Gould, traveling with their father over the Missouri Pacific on a tour of inspection, were interested in the Mayor and Alderman of a certain town, assembled at the track to ask respectfully for a new railroad station.

One of the children, now married to an English nobleman, said to her father: "It is nice of these peasants to come and see you, isn't it, papa?"

It is, indeed, hard to keep children democratic or make it seem worth while for them to work when their father has many millions. You cannot keep servile flattery away.

The picture of an interesting orphan is published in Lord Northcliffe's Sunday Pictorial. With ungainly legs the orphan stands by its foster-mother, a huge cart horse. The mother of this orphan, Tagalie, the famous winner of the Derby in 1912, died "in foaling."

The magnificently-bred young race horse is made foster-child of a cart horse, not of a race horse. Experience teaches that the cart horse type, possessing strength, good nature and bulk, makes the better mother. There's a warning for women that try to be too thin.

Breeders of thoroughbred bulldogs know also that it is possible to overdo the "thoroughbred" part. They take thoroughbred puppies from their mothers and put them to nurse to a mongrel mother, cruelly drowning the latter's puppies.

Motherhood is complicated. Read what Renan said about it. Observes that both Napoleon and Lincoln had mothers of the big, heavy type, bread and solid.

Count Balnotti of Turin, dying, established a ten thousand dollar fund interest on to go every year to the most virtuous and in all ways admirable young girl, unmarried, aged twenty, daughter "of the common people," in the city of Providence, R. I.

The Mayor is working on the problem, so is the Mayor of Turin, where Count Balnotti established a similar fund.

The Providence Mayor has been told that these are the qualities most important in a "best girl":

Strength, truth, justice, kindness, reverence, humility, duty, amiability, prudence, faithfulness, patience, truthfulness, good conduct, and "if possible," discretion.

Which of the fourteen seems to you most important?

You will observe that the important quality for the young woman and the children to come after, is completely, INTELLIGENCE. Give women strength plus intelligence. Nature will do the rest.

The mother of Alexander the Great lacked at least thirteen of the fourteen points. But she had a wonderful son, and that is the important thing. Of an artist you ask what sort of pictures he produced, and of a woman, what sort of children.

In all news of this day, all news of past ages, including Dante's description of Francesca and her young man, still doomed to each other in hell, you find nothing more pathetic than this:

Viola Carpenter had lived over a year with Robert M. Taylor. She always wanted him to marry her; he wouldn't. One night he shot her; he says it was an accident; the police say no. Told that the girl would die, Taylor said: "Then let me marry her; she had the license and the ring. It is what she wants."

Father Plunkett of Chicago wisely consented to perform the ceremony. The girl wept with joy and GRATITUDE, and in half an hour she was dead.

There you have sufficient proof of woman's moral superiority and innate goodness and a whole "problem play" boiled down into a short police report.

When they first started the street car lines in Buenos Aires horses could be bought for five dollars apiece. They were so cheap it scarcely paid to feed them. They were shamefully ill-treated; now electricity mercifully replaces them.

There was a time when men were so cheap it scarcely paid to bother about their being fed or housed. They are dearer now, and, unlike horses, they can do uncomfortable thinking, planning and disturbing when they lack decent food and housing. For that reason the American Woolen Company should find some way to avoid laying off 35,000 operators three days in every week.

To raise a man's salary 15 per cent.—the woolen company did that—and then cut down his total earning power 33 1-3 per cent., is dangerous.

Gallivan Believes Next Congress Will Revise Wage Scale Upward

While the clerks and carriers in the Boston postoffice were almost a unit in opposing the bill reclassifying the salaries of all postal employes, which was passed by the House without a dissenting vote, the national leaders of the postal clerks are hoping for favorable action on it by the Senate when it comes before that body today, with a view that half a loaf is better than no loaf at all.

Its passage by the Senate is expected before adjournment of Congress tomorrow.

In an interview with the Boston American Congressman James A. Gallivan said:

"Gilmore and Cantwell of the carriers, Ryan of the railway mail clerks and Flaherty of the postoffice clerks, all of whom are in Washington in

FRENCH BUY SUGAR CROP FOR 36 CENTS A POUND

Hopes for cheaper sugar went glimmering today when Willett & Gray of New York, recognized authorities on sugar, reported that the French government had requisitioned their entire beet sugar crop for 1920-21 at a price of approximately 36 cents a pound at normal exchange. The action was said to have been inspired by a desire to avoid further advance in sugar prices in France. French colonies' production will also be taken over.

Mexico in Revolution

I. THE GENERALS (Continued).

(Copyrighted by The Foreign Press Service.)

In former times there were, in Mexico, only such generals as belonged to the regular army, soldiers by profession, like the professional soldiers of every other country. Now there are generals and generals. There are generals appointed by Carranza. There are generals created by Villa. There are generals manufactured by Felix Diaz. There are generals counterfeited by Zapata. Who is not a general down there? During my visit in Mexico City, whenever I was introduced to a simple colonel, I rubbed my eyes for a second look, and almost with pity for the poor fellow. "What's wrong with this man?" I thought. "He's not even a brigadier."

Another point of difference between militarism in Europe and that of Mexico: in the Old World the general carries a sword and swears by it. The Mexican general in the make-up supplied by the revolution, does not know what a sword is. He never wore one. He carries a revolver in his belt, and I can imagine him swearing a theatrical oath: "By my six-shooter!"

Whether generals or colonels, they are all boys, scarcely of voting age, boys scandalously immature and still infected, for the most part, with the bellicose aggressiveness and pe-

MEDIUM ROBS LYNN WOMAN

Vanishes With $2,700 After Administering "Massage" to Prevent Illness

The Boston police were asked today to search for a former Lynn medium who is accused of robbing Mrs. Hilda Lamparter of No. 604 Essex street, that city, of $2,700.

According to Mrs. Lamparter's story, the medium, a woman, induced her to carry the money in a bag over her heart as a charm against failing health, and abstracted the currency while "laying on hands."

Mrs. Lamparter, who was in poor health, sent for the medium in April. The woman said to be the mother of five children, visited Mrs. Lamparter, and it is understood promised to restore her to normal.

After learning that Mrs. Lamparter had $2,700 in a local bank, the medium ordered her to draw it out, place it in a bag and wear it over her heart. These instructions were faithfully followed, and during the month of April and part of May the medium paid several visits.

On the last visit May 27, according to Mrs. Lamparter, the medium induced her to remove her clothing and put on a loose robe.

Then placing her hands under the robe, the medium muttered some words, supposed to be incantations, at the same time gently massaging the other woman's body. When she left Mrs. Lamparter discovered that the money had been removed from the bag, and a roll of paper substituted.

COOLIDGE HOLDSBILL INVALID

Action Sustained in House by Record Vote of 202 to 14

Governor Coolidge today vetoed the motion picture censorship bill. The veto was immediately sustained by the House by the overwhelming vote of 202 to 14.

Seldom, if ever, has a Governor's repudiation of a matter of such wide interest been approved with such an unanimity of feeling in either branch of the Legislature.

As is evident from the figures, both Republican and Democratic members of the House supported the Governor's attitude.

Representative John Thomas of Gloucester seemed to reflect the sentiment of the House when he said: "With all the lawyers gone, it is rather amazing that the unconstitutionality of this bill, now so evident to us all when it is pointed out by the Governor, did not strike us sooner. I have full confidence in the Governor and will, of course, vote to sustain his veto of the bill. I also have confidence in the opinion of Attorney-General Allen."

CALLS IT REPRESSIVE

Rev. Roland D. Sawyer, representative from Ware, said he hoped the House would sustain the Governor, as the principle of pre-publicity censorship was abhorrent to any American, particularly at a time when so

"Too much movies" was the excuse of Giuseppe Bevolaqua, arraigned in Municipal Court today on a charge of assault and battery on his wife, Helen. He said his wife spent so much time at theatres that she didn't get his supper.

"She wouldn't cook, so I made the punch," he told the Court.

It being shown that Mrs. Bevolaqua was willing to forego the cinemas and have a hot meal ready for her husband when he came home from work, the case was placed on file.

COOLIDGE VETOES MOVIE CENSORSHIP BILL

HOUSE SUSTAINS ACTION BY VOTE OF 202 TO 14

much repressive legislation had been imposed upon the people.

Representative Wesley D. Monk of Watertown said that Attorney-General Allen's opinion that the bill was unconstitutional was founded upon the law and sustained by the opinions of the courts. He said that it interfered with the right of the people to carry on their ordinary business pursuits in interstate commerce and probably also denied the right of trial by jury.

"It would violate the principle of real democracy to allow any one man or group of men to decide what the [illegible] people of the State may or may not see," added Representative Sawyer.

Representative William H. McDonnell of Boston, the Democratic floor leader, announcing that he would vote to sustain Governor Coolidge, said the time spent in consideration of the bill will not have been wasted if some of the motion picture interests across the aisle act accurately and start to put their "house in order."

The bill with which Governor Coolidge signed the veto message was given to Senator George F. Curran of Boston.

THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

Governor Coolidge said in his message:

"To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives:

"A bill entitled 'an act relative to the approval and public exhibition of motion picture films,' being House bill No. 1540, is herewith returned without approval. Hereto attached is the opinion of the attorney-general that the second section, which is the important section of the bill, is unconstitutional, and that section 4, which undertakes to provide for a court review, is not in a form which expressly preserves the constitutional rights of trial by jury, although it is possible that it might be interpreted to give that right.

"The entire purpose of the bill would fall with the failure of section 2, and the entire bill would fail if the court should determine that the right to trial by jury is not provided for accorded to the Constitution.

"There is no need to point out that unconstitutional legislation would be entirely useless, would bring about expense to the Commonwealth which would be without avail and would cause the appointment of persons and the installing of machinery, all of which would be a total loss to the Commonwealth."

ATTORNEY-GENERAL'S OPINION.

Attorney-General Allen, whose opinion on the constitutionality of the bill was requested by Governor Coolidge, said in his letter to the latter:

"Your Excellency has requested my opinion upon the constitutionality of House Bill No. 1540, entitled 'An Act Relative to the Approval and Public Exhibition of Motion Picture Films.' Section 2 of said bill provides:

"'On and after January 1, 1921, it shall be unlawful for any person to sell, lease, loan or use for public exhibition or commercial purposes any motion picture film unless the said film has been submitted to and approved by the commissioner.'

"The language of this section is not limited to the inspection and approval of motion picture films to be used for public exhibition within the Commonwealth, and, in this respect, it goes farther than the motion picture censorship laws which were upheld in Mutual Film Co. v. Industrial Commission of Ohio, 236 Fed. 135, affirmed 236 U. S. 230, and Mutual Film Corp. v. Kansas, 236 U. S. 248.

TOO MUCH AUTHORITY.

"It is my opinion that this section is so broad that it would apply to a sale, lease or loan in this Commonwealth of a motion picture film made in this State and on its way into another State, and would also apply to a film in the original package in which it might be shipped into this State from another State or from a foreign country.

"If so, it is to that extent in conflict with that clause of Section 8 of Article I. of the Constitution of the United States, which confers on Congress power 'to regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several States, and with the Indian tribes.' Brown vs. Maryland, 12 Wheat. 419; Leisy vs. Hardin, 135 U. S. 100; Schollenberger vs. Pennsylvania, 171 U. S. 1.

"I am, therefore, of opinion that said Section 2 is an attempt directly to regulate interstate commerce, and is, accordingly, unconstitutional.

PROVISIONS TOO RIGID.

"I would also call your attention to section 4, which provides for an appeal to the Superior Court sitting in equity. While I feel that there is a strong probability that the constitutional requirement that one shall have a right to trial by jury where title to, or controversy exceeds twenty dollars is complied with, in that the remedy in equity is not necessarily exclusive, nevertheless, in my judgment, it would have been advisable to add to the section some provision stating that it should not be construed to deprive any person of the right to pursue any other lawful remedy.

"If this section is constitutional, it would be so because of an interpretation of its meaning made by a court rather than by the clear wording of the section itself. In its present form the question of its constitutionality might be raised

PREDICTS PULP WOOD FAMINE

Canadian Official Sees Ruin for Small Publications in United States

A serious pulp wood famine, with resultant ruin to small publishers and dire consequence to all the American press, was predicted today by C. Price-Green, industrial commissioner for the national railways of Canada, at the thirty-fifth annual convention of the National Editorial Association in the Boston Public Library.

"Not a fraction of the public realizes the menace," Commissioner Price-Green declared. "This country uses 5,000,000 cords of pulp annually, and the newspapers of Chicago use every day the equivalent of 2,000 spruce trees, thus baring forty acres of timber.

"The forests are steadily deteriorating, and no effort is being made for future growth. The government seems to begrudge a dollar spent for this vital work."

The speaker declared Canada could do nothing to relieve the United States, as its own excess consumption of Canadian pulp would exhaust her supply in fourteen years.

He also told of sinister interests tying up timber lands. He showed the substitute for wood pulp made of wheat and straw.

The convention voted to meet in 1921 at Miami, Fla.

ASK COURT TO STOP SALE OF COLORED CHURCH

Discussion among members of the First African M. E. Church at Charles and Mt. Vernon streets, was further widened today when William Worthy and other members brought a bill in Superior Court against the church trustees and Rev. Montrose Thornton, pastor, seeking to have the proposed sale of the church stopped. The split began when the street commissioners decided that a strip of land ten feet wide must be taken from the property for the widening of Charles street. The church corporation voted to empower the trustees to sell the church and land and secure another location. Judge Hammond has sustained a demurrer of the trustees on the ground the city of Boston is a necessary party to the suit. The trial faction has been given seven days in which to amend its bill.

DUKE APPEALS $25 AUTO FINE IN NEWTON COURT

Charged with driving an automobile in such a way as to endanger "the lives of the public, Harry Duke of Ocean avenue, Salem, today in the Newton court appealed a fine of $25. Duke is a manufacturer of machinery. Monday, according to the charge, he drove his machine head-on into a car owned and driven by Dr. Herbert L. Johnson of Roxbury at Commonwealth avenue and Hammond street, Newton. Both cars were damaged but no one was injured.

SUGAR MEN TO FACE U. S. COURT JUNE 11

The hearing of three sugar refining companies and officials of two of them, on charges of profiteering, was continued to June 11 by United States Commissioner Hayes today at the request of the defendants. The complaints were filed by the Department of Justice. Those accused are: The Revere Sugar Refinery Company, the American Sugar Refining Company, the Independent Sugar Company, Henry E. Worcester, vice-president of the Revere Company, and Woodward K. Green, general manager of the American Company.

DORCHESTER DAY HORSE RACING IS POSTPONED

Owing to the rough condition of the speedway at Franklin Field, it was decided today to postpone the horse racing which was to be a feature of Dorchester Day celebration there tomorrow. Mayor Peters, who was scheduled to drive one of the horses, said that he would carry out his part of the arrangement at any time the track was considered suitable. The program for tomorrow consists largely of athletic exercises and drills. It will mark the founding of Dorchester 289 years ago.

MUTE ACCUSED OF BEING THIEF'S DECOY

Israel Snyder, a mute, of Lincoln street, was held for the Grand Jury by the municipal court today on a charge of robbery. He is alleged to have arranged the robbery of Vincent Nestovitis of No. 81 Dover street on May 28 by leading Nestovitis to a spot on Waterford street, where a gang was in wait for him. Snyder, police officers said, did not take the money from Nestovitis, but they believe they will have the robber under arrest in a few days.

De Valera Leaves on Mystery Journey

New York, June 4.—Eamon De Valera, president of the Republic of Ireland, left today for the West, giving up his apartment at the Waldorf, with the announcement that he would not return. The mystery surrounding his destination has aroused a deal of conjecture. Some say that he is going to Ireland by the "underground" route. Others say he is going to Rome. He says that he has started "on a long journey that may take me to another and of the world."

His immediate destination is Chicago. When he came to this country De Valera announced that he would stay a year. He has already been here twelve months.

DALLINGER SEES FUEL CRISIS

Urges Embargo on Coal Export to Prevent Shutdown of Industries

Washington, June 4.—Congressman Frederick W. Dallinger of Massachusetts today warned the National House that unless some radical steps are taken immediately foreign coal buyers will save absorbed the existing supply of coal, to the menace of this country, and particularly New England.

Mr. Dallinger declared that buyers representing Italian interests were in the market offering fabulous sums for fuel. He intimated that they had already offered as high as $60 the ton for the commodity. Mr. Dallinger insists that if the producers are allowed to ship unlimited quantities New England will receive but scant supplies and as a result her industries will suffer.

Dallinger's warning came as a prelude to a hearing today before the House Committee on Foreign Commerce on his resolution calling on the Interstate Commission to place an embargo on all coal exports at once.

In a conversation with a member of the Interstate Commission, Mr. Dallinger said that it was freely admitted that immediate action was imperative to prevent a complete industrial tieup and untold suffering in New England.

The gravity of the situation was outlined in telegrams sent to New England Governors, the Boston Chamber of Commerce and other civic organizations, in which he explained in detail the calling of the hearing.

"The Italian coal buyers are offering any price for coal," declared Mr. Dallinger. "I understand that offers of as high as $60 per ton have already been made. If the coal producers are allowed to export in unlimited quantities it will mean that the small amount that will find its way to the New England States will be prohibitive in price and so limited that living conditions for the poor will become almost impossible within a few months."

SERGT. HORTON REPRIMANDED

Made Discourteous Remarks to Clerk Howell While Up for Dress Inspection

For the first time in several years, a superior officer of the Boston police department has been tried on charges and adjudged guilty. Sergeant Walter W. Horton of the Dudley street station, was the defendant. The sentence of Commissioner Curtis, who heard the charges was that he be reprimanded in general orders.

Horton was charged with being uncivil, discourteous and using improper language to a member of the department, Patrolman Charles F. Howell of the property clerks' department. The complaint, which was registered by Assistant Property Clerk Dowell, a civilian employe of the department, resulted from some remarks Horton made concerning the brand of cigar Patrolman Howell was smoking.

According to the story, Horton went to headquarters to try on his new uniform and pass inspection. At the time Captain Patrick F. King, who inspects all the uniforms was not present. Patrolman Howell was acting for him as inspector.

Howell told Horton, following the remarks about the cigar, that he expected just the same sort of treatment as would be given Captain King.

Then it is alleged Horton made remarks that were not according to the code. Mr. Dowell was standing by watching the inspection. He rebuked the sergeant, according to rumor.

Commissioner Curtis then heard them himself. His finding was read in a roll call at all divisions last night, but was not given to the press. Horton was defended by an attorney, and at the trial Captain Parlay F. Stillings of the Dudley street station, his commanding officer, declared him to be the finest sergeant in the station.

The last previous sergeant tried was Stillman B. F. Hall of the Lagrange street station. Following a hearing he was ordered reduced to the rank of patrolman by Commissioner O'Meara.

POLICEMAN ASKS FOR JOB AGAIN

A plea for the reinstatement of Clair P. Chainey as a lieutenant in the Revere police department was made by his counsel today at a public hearing on the officer's dismissal held in Revere City Hall. Mayor Walsworth agreed to consider the appeal.

There were eight charges against Chainey, based mostly on his activity in behalf of a wage increase for patrolmen. The lieutenant today acknowledged part of the charges, but denied improper motives.

His attorney said the trouble leading on to the lieutenant's discharge was due largely to poor judgment, but said that he believed the officer had been sufficiently punished.

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR ITALIAN HEROES SUNDAY

Practically every Italian organization in Boston, it became known today, is planning to send large delegations to the memorial services Sunday night for Arthur J. Viscardi and Ralph Palaumbo, the first two Italian boys of this city who gave their lives in the World War. There will be an opera performance folowing the services in Mechanics Building. Elvira Leveroni and Roberto Vigilioni of the Metropolitan Opera Company will head the bill and the Boston Italian Symphony Orchestra of seventy-five pieces will participate. Proceeds from the sale of tickets will be devoted to the Free Italian Home for Children.

HELD FOR JURY, ACCUSED OF STABBING WOMAN

Harry Kapian, twenty-four years old, was held for the Grand Jury in $3,000 on a charge of assault with intent to kill by Municipal Judge Cohen today. The complainant was Mrs. Pearl Miller, eighteen years old, of No. 4 Bulfinch street, on May 15. She said Kapian came to the factory where she worked and attacked her with a knife when she refused to take a walk with her. One wound above the eye, she said, required eight stitches.

PROBE FORGERIES FOR WHISKEY WITHDRAWALS

Washington, June 4.—Forgery of permits for withdrawal of whiskey from bonded warehouses in several Eastern districts has assumed such proportions that a thorough investigation of the work of prohibition enforcement personnel in districts involved has been ordered. Charges by Senator Calder of New York that the forgeries are the result of "inside jobs" by prohibition agents acting in collusion with liquor men was the immediate cause of the investigation.

Massachusetts House Joins Hearst Fight to Stop Sale of the Merchant Marine

Unstinted praise for William Randolph Hearst and the Hearst newspapers for exposing America's grave danger in selling the merchant fleet to foreign powers and successfully preventing their sale against the interest of the government, is contained in the following order, unanimously adopted by the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

"Ordered—That the House of Representatives of Massachusetts records itself as being unalterably opposed to the sale of any vessels of the American Merchant Marine now controlled by the Shipping Board of the United States, to any foreign nation, corporation or individual, and as being of the opinion that said ships should be preserved for the use and benefit of the American people and should be kept forever under the American flag.

"The House of Representatives also records its hearty approval of the patriotic efforts of those American citizens and those newspapers which brought to public and judicial attention the dangerous possibility that these ships might be sold by the Shipping Board to foreign powers, thereby depriving the American people of the merchant fleet obtained at such costly sacrifice during the World War; and be it further,

"Ordered, that copies of this order be sent to the President of the United States and the Senators and Representatives from Massachusetts in the Congress of the United States."

William Randolph Hearst, as a taxpayer, frustrated the original plan of the United States Shipping Board to sell the great fleet of former German ships, now a part of the American merchant marine, by going into the courts and obtaining a permanent injunction against such sale. The Supreme Court of the District of Columbia held that Congress alone had power to authorize it.

Through his newspapers, Mr. Hearst also has protested to Congress against the sections of the Jones bill which would permit the sale of the ships under certain restrictions. The Hearst newspapers have kept their columns open to public-spirited citizens who desired to join in this protest, and scores of such protests have been printed.

60 MILLION JOKER IN SHIP BILL

Democrats Expose Attempt to Reimburse Builders and Measure Goes Back to Committee

Washington, June 4.—Plans of the Republican leaders to jam the Jones shipping bill through the House were blocked when the Democrats exposed a joker which, it was declared, would have cost the government from fifty million to sixty million dollars.

A point of order against the joker provision by Representative Garrett, Democrat, of Tennessee, was sustained by Speaker Gillett, and the whole bill was sent back to committee.

IN SENATE FIRST.

The conferees were hurriedly called into session again and the joker stricken out. Plans then were renewed to force the measure through both Houses. The action of the House in rejecting the conference report, however, reversed the procedure, and the report now will come up in the Senate first.

Senators and Representatives who are interested in safeguarding the American merchant marine declared they will make a determined fight to defeat the conference report in March branch.

In making the point of order against the joker, Mr. Garrett charged that the conferees had exceeded their authority in writing into the bill matter which had never been passed on by either the Senate or House and over which they had no jurisdiction.

Sustaining the point of order over the protest of the Republican leaders, Speaker Gillett said: "I regretted to send so important a measure back to conference, but that without doubt the conferees had exceeded their authority.

FAVORED WOODEN BUILDERS.

Discussion of the point of order disclosed that the conferees had inserted in the bill a provision designed to do exactly what the House overwhelmingly refused to do last week when it rejected and recommitted to the Merchant Marine Committee a bill to provide for reimbursement of wooden shipbuilders who claim to have suffered losses in the construction of yards to build wood ships for the government.

Representative Longworth, Republican, of Ohio; Garrett and Davis, Democrats, of Tennessee, and Blanton, Democrat, of Texas, were among those who joined in the exposure of this neat little scheme.

Under the joker provision, the Shipping Board, to which is transferred the power now vested in the President, would have been authorized to settle all claims of the wooden shipbuilders, among other claimants, based on agreements with the Shipping Board, "expressed or implied."

WOULD OPEN TREASURY.

This "vicious provision," Mr. Garrett declared, would have opened the public treasury to claims of every sort. Mr. Blanton declared the cost to the government would have been from $50,000,000 to $60,000,000.

The wooden ship bill, which the House rejected and which in effect the conferees attempted to write into the Jones bill by means of the joker, authorized the Shipping Board to settle with the wooden shipbuilders for losses not covered by formal contracts with the Shipping Board, the theory was that most of these interests had to build yards with their own money and they expected contracts for a period of years, which would have enabled them to recoup the cost of building the yards and also earn a profit.

Champions of the Jones bill sought to explain that these claims could not be paid under the joker provision, but many members on both sides of the House were convinced that if that was not the specific purpose of the joker, such action would be allowed to wriggle in.

Mr. Longworth declared: "This provision will accomplish exactly the purpose sought in the bill that the House refused to pass last week."

STEAM ROLLER BALKS.

The Republican leaders had the steam roller ready with a full head of steam to jam the bill through without opportunity for debate by the opposition and without opportunity for amendment of any sort. They hope to carry out this plan to jam it through when the conference report comes up again.

Here is the way several members view this extraordinary procedure in the House:

The House passed a moderate, conservative bill last November. It was allowed to sleep in the Senate committee for several months, then two or three bills were combined into one and sent back to the House.

The combined measure provided for the future policy with regard to the American Merchant Marine and disposes of three billion five hundred million dollars' worth of property. It paves the way for a complete surrender of the 1,400 ships built with the people's money and the twenty-nine former German liners to the shipping trust and the foreign shipping interests.

MEMBERS NOT PREPARED.

The bill covers fifty-nine pages and the conference report thirty-six pages of fine print. Both documents are highly technical and require a good deal of study to understand. The bill and report were not ready for publication until a few hours before the conference report came up for action. Nobody had seen either except the conferees before the matter was taken up on the floor.

In this way the Republican leaders seek to jam so important a matter through in the last days of the session, with only an hour's debate, controlled entirely by Chairman Greene of the Merchant Marine Committee, who is a strong champion of the bill and the sale of the ships. At the expiration of the hour's debate a vote will be taken directly on the question of adoption or rejection, without an opportunity whatever for the consideration of amendments.

Mr. Greene, it was stated by opponents of the bill, would yield no time to those who desire to speak.

Dorchester Girls Make Own Hats

Miss Marie Wallace, in hat of gray maline, ostrich and Alice blue trimmings.

Miss Marian Heller, black, trimmed with rosebuds and silver ribbon.

Miss Edna Hoffman, sport hat of gray, batavia cloth

Girls of the graduating class at Dorchester High School are giving the H. C. of L. a bump by making their own clothes for commencement exercises later this month.

Relatives and friends of the seniors are today examining the hats made by the girls.

Miss Marie Wallace has contrived a charming hat of gray maline, with gray straw and ostrich and Alice blue trimmings. The bonnet cost slightly under $10.

Miss Marian Heller's hat is of black hair braid, trimmed with 'row of rosebuds, silver ribbons and streamers. The cost was slightly under $9.

The hat Miss Edna Hoffman will wear is a sport hat of gray batavia cloth, with ribbons colored to match her dress. The cost was around $4.

Miss Elizabeth C. Menn is in charge of the dressmaking and millinery classes, assisted by Misses Alice Croke and Frances Lesser. It was the scheme of the girls to make their own clothes for graduation, to be as economical as possible and still in good taste.

Relatives of the approximately thirty girls in the class attended the "fashion show" at the school yesterday and inspected the dresses made by the seniors.

King George Sublets Palace in Flats

London, June 4.—The King of England today decided to sublet his palaces to ease the housing difficulty.

Concessions so far, however, are limited to members of the households unable to obtain accommodations in London. His Majesty offers five-room furnished flats for married couples at the St. James Palace, where the Prince of Wales occupies only a few rooms, at eight guineas a week (normally about $41), and three-room flats for five guineas (normally about $25).

The rent includes breakfast, while lunch and dinner are obtainable from the kitchen of the Buckingham Palace for three dollars a day.

King George hopes his decision will influence the peers to split up their half-empty town houses into furnished flats to benefit the people forced to live in hotels.

$125,000,000 ZIONIST TITHE TO BE TAKEN

London, June 4.—A world wide appeal to the Jews of all nations is to be made by the Zionist executive committee for self-imposition of a tax of two per cent, according to the old Masschef (tithe), with the object of raising $125,000,000 to finance the immigration to Palestine.

CAR DERAILED ON NEWTON HIGHLANDS TRAIN

A broken housing box on one of the cars on the 8:06 Newton Highlands circuit train, which derailed the rear trucks of the coach as the train was nearing the Brookline Hills station today, held up the train for more than twenty minutes and delayed other trains on the line. No one was injured. The passengers in the four rear cars were crowded into the front coaches and carried into the South Station. The other four cars were later removed when a wrecking crew put the derailed coach back on the track.

PEARL ODELL GIVEN 20 YEARS IN PRISON

Rochester, N. Y., June 4.—At 11:40 last night a Supreme Court jury returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the second degree against Pearl Belmer Odell, charged with assisting her husband, Jamal L. Odell, who is awaiting execution at Sing Sing, in the murder of Edward J. Kneip on the night of January 6, last.

She received A sentence of from twenty years to life imprisonment at hard labor.

SECOND ARREST IN KIDNAPING

Former Service Man, Named by Woman Suspect, Taken in Coughlin Case

By International News Service.

Philadelphia, June 4.—Marking the second arrest in connection with the kidnaping of 13-months-old Blakely Coughlin, James Malone of Philadelphia was taken into custody today. Mrs. Catherine Dundon, a former servant in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Coughlin, the baby's parents, was arrested last night at Conshohocken.

Malone's arrest, it is declared, followed mention of his name by Mrs. Dundon during her preliminary questioning by the police. Both Mrs. Dundon and Malone declare they know nothing of the kidnaping. Malone is a veteran of the world war.

Search for the missing child has been greatly stimulated by the offer of rewards totalling $7,500.

MANCHESTER HORSES LOST IN QUICKSAND

Manchester, N. H., June 4.—One horse was extricated with difficulty and two others are believed to be buried in quicksand in a pasture belonging to Ladd Brothers and bordering the Winnipesaukee River in Tilton, N. H.

Although the pasture has been in use for years, the presence of the quicksand was unknown until boys discovered the heads of two horses protruding from the sand. One of them was saved and the other had disappeared when the owners arrived. A third animal is missing.

POLICE AT FUNERAL OF PATROLMAN BUCKLEY

A detail of sixteen policemen from South Boston stations under Sergeant Schults today attended the funeral of Patrolman John Buckley, who died at the age of sixty-three following an illness of several months. A solemn high mass was celebrated by Rev. Waldo C. Haseltf at the Gate of Heaven Church. Six policemen were pallbearers.

HIGH PRICES ABOUT TO FALL IN GERMANY

Washington, June 4.—Prices of necessaries of life are about to break to lower levels in Germany, says a report received here today. Deflation there is progressing rapidly, according to cablegrams to the Treasury Department from Berlin. Information today stated that the prices of clothing and shoes are the first to be affected by the drop and indications are that food prices will fall soon.

PREMIER AGAINST RAIL MEN IN MUNITIONS CASE

Anderson Silent Under Palmer's Fire

Judge George W. Anderson of the Federal Court today refused to engage in controversy with Attorney-General Palmer, who severely criticized him for his open defence of the Communists during the Red trials here.

Asked to comment on the statement of the Attorney-General, which branded as untrue the court's charges that the Department of Justice owned part of the radical party, Judge Anderson replied "Nothing to say."

He admitted reading the Palmer communication, addressed to the local Department of Justice.

The scathing rebuke to the Federal Judge was included in a lengthy answer to charges made by the National Popular Government League and signed by Roscoe Pound, dean of the Harvard Law School, and eleven of his colleagues.

In replying to the charges Attorney-General Palmer said: "It is unfortunate that I am compelled to criticize the statements or action of a justice on the bench, but when statements such as these referring to the general treatment of Communists in the January raids are made in the spirit which is too evident from their wording, and in addition are not true, I insist that the truth be stated."

DEFENDS FEDERAL AGENTS.

The local Department of Justice, who conducted the Red raids last January, are defended by Mr. Palmer for their conduct. He declared the force here is composed of men of education and integrity.

Replying to Judge Anderson's comment from the bench on the Red trials that the government owned and operated at least a part of the Communist party, Mr. Palmer said: "His statements to the effect that the government owns and operates some part of the Communist party are without foundation in any manner, shape or form so far as they may refer to the Department of Justice."

Mr. Palmer's reply is intended to cover specifically the Boston situation which in detail has just been placed before the House Committee on Rules, and which is considered as against Assistant Secretary Post. This committee, in order that the reply might be complete, today received by General a continuance last Friday.

The communication is headed "The Colyer Case," and relates particularly to Pages 42 and 52 of the report of the Popular Government League, which the Attorney-General declares is "grossly unfair," and is a "deliberate effort." He continues:

"Not only are the methods of the department attacked, but also the type of men in the service and their Americanism. Here I might add that the Boston division of the department is under the jurisdiction of universities and conservative men. Of the men in the smaller cities of New England division, not only in charge of the office, but members of the staff, are university graduates, and some are ex-attorneys of long standing. The criticisms of Judge Anderson as published in Page 43 are not interesting, because at the time they were not material to the case, and certainly cannot be established in fact.

"Concerning the suffering of the families the Boston office immediately instituted an investigation into the financial conditions of the families, and advised the proper charitable authorities. In numerous cases the aliens, after being released, stated that they had been fairly treated, and that the agents of the Department of Justice had given them every possible consideration.

SEIZED ONLY ON WARRANTS.

In another portion of his answer Attorney-General Palmer says:

"In practically all the instances in every instance where possible search warrants were procured from either the United States judge or United States commissioner. In no instance can it be shown that any search or place was searched over the objection of the individual. Mr. and Mrs. Colyer admitted at the hearing that they had permitted this search.

"As to handcuffing, that was done only where the guard was insufficient. The instruments used were those at present in service throughout the country and the 'chains' were nothing more than the usual light chain with the police rug through the cuffs where they have a large number of men to handle.

"I remind you that nowhere in the entire Boston division is there a single charge of brutality or abuse.

"I invite you to read the record in the Colyer case, and to consider the many unusual and striking features of the entire affair. How certain of these same 12 prominent attorneys became identified with the case; such tactics as the open coaching of a witness on the stand by a person not a witness or party, but merely 'interested'; the reasons for the many immaterial, unwarranted and untrue statements—all these, I think, would be of interest if known."

FRENCH WAR HERO WINS HARVARD FELLOWSHIP

The Victor Emanuel Chapman fellowship, endowed in memory of Victor E. Chapman, '13, of New York, and assigned each year to a French youth for study at Harvard, has been awarded for the year 1920-21 to Dominique Audollent, son of the dean of the faculty of letters at Clermont University in France. He fought at the front during the war, was made a lieutenant in the French army and was three times cited for his fine behavior. He plans to undertake economic and legal studies at Harvard.

Preacher Who Says Church is 'Asleep'

STANLEY H. JOHNSON.

'HOBO PREACHER' TO OPEN DRIVE

Will Carry Religion to People in Revere Beach Services Beginning Sunday

The "Hobo Preacher," Stanley H. Johnson, will open his campaign of carrying religion to the people, at Revere Beach on Sunday. The man who meets his congregation on the trains, in box cars and on park benches, believes that the church has failed in its mission because the world needs a practical, rational Christianity which the church does not supply.

The "Hobo Preacher" was preaching in the Canadian Northwest when England went to war, and he immediately laid away his sermon for a gun. He enlisted in the Canadian army and is an overseas veteran.

"Fifty per cent of the people of this country do not go to church," he said. "The reason for this is not far to seek. The church confines itself to obsolete and prehistoric doctrine. It has a sleeping sickness.

"The solution of the high cost of living, of Bolshevism, of the struggle between capital and labor is a practical Christianity built on a business basis.

"This stuff of foreign missions is meaningless. I spent fifteen months in China and another fifteen months in the Philippines. The heathen Chinese, as I found him, is much more civilized than the man sent out to convert him.

"The churches have asked us for some $50,000,000 to make a survey of the world's work. In this time of financial crisis they ask for such a sum, and the survey amounts to nothing. They do not ask the question, 'Why don't you go to church?' because they fear an answer that will hurt their feelings.

"The Salvation Army does not tell the world what it has done. It says simply, 'Ask the soldier, the sailor, the marine.' There is the supreme test, ask the fellow on the street why he isn't a church member."

SHOWERS PREDICTED FOR THIS EVENING

A weather disturbance accompanied by rain is moving slowly but surely towards New England, Forecaster Smith said today. The weather observer predicted that showers would begin this evening and continue through tomorrow. It was considerably cooler throughout the northeastern section of the country today, but warmer in the West.

Maden to Eliminate Positions and Features, Saving City $10,000 a Year

The city of Malden proposes to save $10,000 a year by the elimination of several positions and features connected with its schools. The curtailments were decided upon today at a conference between Mayor John V. Kimball and school officials.

The changes include:

The reduction of 50 per cent. of its school nursing staff.

Abolition of the Daniels Evening School.

Curtailment by two weeks of the evening school sessions in other schools.

The failure to repair school furniture this year.

Abolition of the office of assistant to principals in the elementary schools.

Elimination of physical training for girls.

Abolition of the office of school visitor.

HAVERHILL STUDENTS DEFY INITIATION BAN

Haverhill, June 4.—High School students are up in arms over a mandate issued by Principal Arlington here that hereafter there shall be no more initiations of candidates at the school. Heretofore candidates have braided school wierdly clad and performed indescribable stunts for the pleasure of the unit members. The boys assert that initiations will continue even though they are held in secret.

ABSENCE OF BEER RAISES PRICE OF ICE

The advanced price of ice is due to the lack of beer, so says Louis Heil of the Lawrence Ice Company. "When beer was plentiful Lawrence citizens thought ice to cool it, ha, ha. Now there is no beer the sales of ice have materially dropped. Ice beer was a popular drink, but iced water is but a memory, he told Mayor William F. White.

GROCER DROWNS SELF IN PITTSFIELD LAKE

Pittsfield, June 4.—Isadore Carrey, aged thirty-seven years, No. 44 Calumet street, ran into Onata Lake from Thomas Island and committed suicide by drowning. His body, standing upright, with head beat over, was pulled from the water ten minutes later by Ralph White. A widow and three children survive.

THOUGHT CRY FOR AID A JOKE; BOY DROWNS.

Tobacco Drives Out Sugar Trust Head

Yonkers, N. Y., June 4.—Literally "smoked out," John C. Havemeyer, eighty-three, millionaire head of the Havemeyer sugar interests, resigned his membership in the Yonkers Chamber of Commerce. Writing to Major George Ralfe, secretary of the chamber, he said, in part:

"I attended a meeting and was mortified to find nearly everyone present smoking a cigar. I have, on two occasions, I think, accepted an invitation to dinner at which everyone smoked freely while conferring on the business of the Yonkers Chamber of Commerce. This I do not approve of for this purpose, and on stating my views they were not accepted in fact, a spirit of antagonism was shown."

MEXICO QUIET ON EAST COAST

Washington Informed New Provisional President Has Been Installed

By Universal Service.

Washington, June 4.—Conditions are more favorable on the east coast of Mexico, with all ports quiet, than they have been "at any time for a long period," it was announced by the State Department.

The department also stated that its embassy at Mexico City has formally notified this government that the new Mexican provisional president has been installed in office and that the diplomatic missions have been so informed.

Other official advices reported that the attack of Villa on Parral was repulsed and that the forces of General Ignacio Enriques are in active pursuit.

The appreciation of the situation disclosed in State Department news indicates that there is already a large degree of that stability which will warrant the good will of the diplomatic officers here.

RAYMOND'S

Wonder Why?

Wonder why the people piled in here last Saturday and left more money for actual purchases made that day than in any other one store in Boston. Goin some ain't it for the Democratic saw mill managed store, and still we make this claim an if any ofem dispute it, we'll turn over to the Editor of the Boston American vouchers and everything necessary to prove it, providing of course the Duck who disputes it, will do the same. There are no doubt many people who won't believe this, but there are thousands and thousands and more thousands among those who saw a sight last Saturday, which we believe was never before equalled (when nothing out of the ordinary was advertised, attempted or thought of) who will believe it, and we didn't induce, lead on, influence, prevail, wheedle, beguile, jolly, implore, beseech, entreat, cajole, coerce, urge, importune, exhort, force, incite, ensnare, mislead, lure, inveigle or hire 'em to come in. Wonder why they come?

BARNEY'S GUARD FIGHTS WARDEN

Engages Counsel to Appear at Hearing; Seeks Reinstatement and "Vindication"

Seeking complete vindication and reinstatement at the State prison, William J. Crowley, the guard who was suspended by Warden Shattuck for "failure to do his full duty" the night of the Barney-Manster-Ward break from the jail, has engaged counsel to appear in his behalf next Tuesday.

The State Correction Committee on this date will grant a hearing to Crowley and Hanifan. The latter, a guard, was also discharged by Shattuck following the escape of the convicts.

District Attorney Pelletier will seek grand jury indictments of Barney, Manster and Ward for escaping from the prison. The grand jury comes in next Monday.

In Barney's case, ten years additional sentence and a year's solitary confinement is the maximum penalty for the offence. In the case of Manster, a "lifer," solitary punishment would probably be inflicted.

Several avenues of escape from State prison have been discovered by Warden Shattuck as a result of a complete investigation of the institution following the break.

Plans are under way to strengthen the prison and prevent a repetition of the events which allowed the dangerous trio to gain their liberty.

During his investigation Warden Shattuck found many places where prisoners could escape with less exertion than that required by the three men who escaped through the ventilator of the extension wings.

The ventilator used by Barney, Manster and Ward has been re-enforced so that escape by that means will be almost impossible.

LYNN ELECTRIC STRIKE NEARS

National Heads Now Here May Call Out General Electric Workers Tomorrow

National organizers have arrived in Boston with sanction for the union machinists and electricians of the General Electric Company's Lynn plant to strike at any time.

Union workers at the company's plant are said to plan a strike tomorrow, in sympathy with those now out at the Schenectady, Ft. Wayne, Erie, and Pittsburgh shops of the company.

General Electric Company officials, strike leaders declare, are spreading propaganda throughout the Lynn plant, in an attempt to disrupt the unions, although at the same time professing belief in the organizations.

Their latest action, the union men say, has been to send letters to the homes of union workers notifying their wives and mothers of the strike activities going forward, and stating that "they have interests not always beneficial to their home interests." The officials of the plant are charged with thus seeking to create discord in the homes of their employes. A strike without fail is predicted if the alleged propaganda continues.

The winders, who struck three weeks ago, are still out. As a result, it is stated, millions of dollars' worth of orders from European nations for turbine engines have been cancelled. The unions declare that substitutes for the striking winders have not been secured in spite of the efforts of the company.

LOEB GAVE $130,000 CASH TO WOOD'S NEW YORK TREASURER

ROOSEVELT'S EX-SECRETARY COLLECTED 'SLUSH' FUND

Stebbins, Eastern treasurer of the Wood campaign, testified today before the Senate committee investigating pre-convention presidential campaign expenditures and contributions.

Stebbins said he received $130,000 in cash contributions from William Loeb, Jr., formerly secretary to the late Colonel Theodore Roosevelt.

The $130,000 was included in $225,000 Loeb accounted for to the Wood personal campaign committee at Chicago, previously testified to by Albert A. Sprague, wealthy Chicago wholesale grocer and Wood national treasurer, Stebbins stated.

Stebbins said he received a check for $1,000 from Ogden Reid yesterday, but returned it because there was nobody to indorse it.

As treasurer of the "General Leonard Wood League" Stebbins said that organization's receipts were $156,271 and its disbursements $158,-884.

EXPENDED $270,359.

The receipts of the General Leonard Wood "campaign committee" up to June 2 were $268,213 and the expenditures $270,359, Stebbins added.

From the New York city "ways and means" committee of the Wood campaign, Stebbins said he had received $40,000. He named Herbert L. Satterlee as chairman of this committee.

From 1,800 subscribers he received an additional $21,500, Stebbins continued. The subscriptions "ranged from a dollar upward," he explained. He named as among the members of the "ways and means" committee: David M. Goodrich of the Goodrich Rubber Tire Company; Greenville Clark, a lawyer; Elihu Root, Jr., a lawyer; Harold H. Clark, a banker; Archibald G. Thatcher, a lawyer; Langdon G. Marvin, a lawyer; Dean Sage, a lawyer, and Ambrose E. Monell, steel and nickel magnate.

"By implication it would appear I have been trying to avoid appearing before this committee," Stebbins said. "Nothing could be more false. I had planned a trip to the Canadian woods. I was in the woods for nine days, miles from any telephone or telegraph. I have never had a subpoena served on me. I have nothing in the world to hide and the idea I had anything to hide or wished to avoid testifying before this committee is ridiculous.

"My family has been persecuted by sergeant-at-arms and deputy United States marshals seeking me with a subpoena."

Edwards to Give Battle to Bryan on Dry Issue

By International News Service.

New York, June 4.—A spectacular political duel between Governor Edward I. Edwards of New Jersey and William Jennings Bryan is in prospect when the Democratic national convention opens in San Francisco.

"I am going to leave for San Francisco on June 18, and I hope to give Mr. Bryan the battle of his political life," said Governor Edwards at his New York headquarters. "I have prepared some questions relative to prohibition which Mr. Bryan, as leader of the 'dry' forces, will find it difficult to answer."

Johnson Is Popular Among Military Men

Among the officers, army and civilian clerks at army headquarters the name of Hiram W. Johnson is equally popular with that of Leonard Wood for President.

Officers who hail from California are uniformly in favor of Johnson. Among those is Captain Charles F. Carpenter of the Signal Corps, who defies hearing anything against Johnson.

"We know him in our State from A to Z. He's the only man who cannot be taken down from his stand and will fight for every true reform for the people. He's the people's choice, there."

At Camp Devens there are very few of the officers and enlisted men who will vote for Wood.

"They like him out at Camp Funston, but at Camp Devens he's talked about with many 'ifs.' That's the way we look at him out there," claimed one of the officers.

Gray Estate $389,855

An inventory filed in Suffolk County Probate Court of the estate of J. Converse Gray, a Boston attorney, shows personal property to the value of $389,855.

Shift in the Betting Favors Coolidge

New York, June 4.—Governor Coolidge of Massachusetts is becoming a favorite in the betting on the presidential possibilities. Today the odds against him were shortened to 3 to 1. Two days ago the odds were 15 to 1.

Odds of 8 to 5 against Hiram W. Johnson were offered by one Wall street house. Another stock exchange firm offered to bet $600 to $500 that the Californian would win the nomination. There was no taker for the bet.

Odds against other candidates are quoted as follows: Wood 3 to 1, Hoover 6 to 1, Harding 5 to 1, Lowden 10 to 1, Allen 6 to 1 and all Democratic candidates 2½ to 1.

Convention Sidelights

Chicago, June 4.—Vice-President Marshall will be one of the visitors at the convention. He will be in Chicago about three days during the week before leaving for San Francisco and he has secured a pass to see the big elephant going through its first stunts.

Eamon De Valera, President of the Irish Republic, will attend the convention. He may not see any public buildings burned, but he will undoubtedly see some warm doings at the Coliseum. Incidentally he will have an opportunity to take a few lessons in politics that may help him when he returns to Ireland.

* * *

Here is one of the songs sung to the tune of John Brown's body, that was sung at the Johnson demonstration when he reached Chicago:

The Democratic managers are very, very sick;
Since Hiram made his argument and
Borah threw a brick;
They tried to put it over, but they couldn't turn the trick;
His cause goes marching on.

"Presidential row" was scattered today by order of the management of the Congress Hotel. Most of the candidates will have to move and make room for delegates who got in their reservation orders months ago.

Three men have agreed to second General Wood's nomination. They are Charles Moynahan, of Colorado; former Governor Runyon, of New Jersey, and Major Frank Knox, of Manchester, N. H.

Mexican presidential candidates would settle the race at once if they could get as close to each other as the Republican aspirants are here. Senator Johnson is occupying a suite just above Governor Lowden at the Blackstone. The room of Hiram Johnson, Jr., is sandwiched between two Hoover campaign rooms.

* * *

Robert Taft, son of the former President, is one of the busy workers in the Hoover headquarters. Although Hoover hasn't a pledged delegate, young Taft says "he will be nominated eventually."

Believe Penrose Will Stay in Philadelphia

By International News Service.

Philadelphia, June 4.—Although Senator Boise Penrose seems determined to attend the Republican National Convention at Chicago, indications today were he would be forced to remain in Philadelphia.

It was learned the first floor of the Penrose residence here had been fitted up as an office and preparations made for installing a long-distance wire direct to the convention floor. Governor Sproul is scheduled to confer with Penrose late today, and it is believed Penrose will approve the plan to have Pennsylvania delegates support the Governor's candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination. Mayor Moore of Philadelphia, it is declared, will nominate Governor Sproul.

Report Pennsylvanians Are Solid for Sproul

By International News Service.

Chicago, June 4.—Governor Sproul of Pennsylvania emerged suddenly today from the "favorite son" ranks and became a contender for the Republican presidential nomination, when a report reached here that the Pennsylvania delegation had swung solidly behind Sproul.

It has been impossible to confirm the rumor. The Pennsylvania delegation has not reached here, neither has Sproul, Senator Penrose or any of the Pennsylvania leaders. It is not known whether Senator Penrose will be able to come because of his recent serious illness.

Gen. Aguilar Will Go to Europe

Vera Cruz, June 4.—General Candido Aguilar, son-in-law of Carranza, has been granted permission to leave Mexico with his family and make his home in Europe. It was reported from Mexico City today.

JOHNSON WILL FIGHT LEAGUE

Bitter Fight on Patform Treaty Plank May Settle Nomination

By International News Service.

Chicago, June 4.—With the battle slogan "no compromise," Senator Hiram Johnson will lead the entire Senate group of "irreconcilables" on the floor of the Republican convention in a spectacular fight against the Wilson League of Nations. It was disclosed here today.

The fight is expected to be the greatest platform combat in the history of the party, and may result in splitting the G. O. P.

Smashing at the fence-straddling plank, which Senator James E. Watson will bring to Chicago, Field Marshal Johnson will direct the "irreconcilables" in a drive to cast into the dumb heap all "pussy-footing" measures affecting the league and to force the Republican Party to rivet into its platform a plank committing the party to definite, unalterable opposition to the Wilsonian world brotherhood idea.

If the battle goes to such a point that it becomes necessary, Senator Johnson will appear personally on the floor of the convention to launch a final drive with the objective of flipping the League of Nations to smithereens.

MAY DECIDE NOMINATION.

Senator Borah will be Senator Johnson's chief tactical general in the anti-league fight, the outcome of which, it appears today, will decide who is to be the party's nominee.

Other of the "irreconcilables" who will occupy a front place on the Johnsonian firing line—aligned with him on this one big question at least—will be Senator Knox of Pennsylvania, Senator Medill McCormick of Illinois, Senator Sherman of Illinois, and Senator Brandegee of Connecticut. Miss Thompson of Chicago and the fourteen Illinois delegates under his control are in the fight on the California Senator's side, tooth and nail.

Two well defined factions have formed within the ranks of the G. O. P. and both are strongly represented here.

First comes the group of "reservationists" of the school of Henry Cabot Lodge.

LOGE FOR COMPROMISE.

By favor a League with reservations but desire in the platform a plank bridging the chasm between the "reservationists" and the "No Loge" faction and at the same time broad enough for any Republican, whatever his views, to stand on without danger.

Bond, come the "Irreconcilables" or "Battalion of Death" element, opposed to the present league, amended otherwise, and who insist that such plank be nailed fast in the Republican platform."

Sold a League of Nations with reservations be indorsed by the convention. It is pointed out, it would mean the nomination of General Leonard Wood, Governor Lowden, Senator Harding, Herbert C. Hoover or ask horse known to be reservation by conviction. None of the names said in this connection are Charles E. Hughes, former President Will Howard Taft, Henry Cabot Lodge, Frank B. Kellogg, of Minnesota, Irvine L. Lenroot of Wisconsin and James E. Watson, of Indiana.

On the other hand, practical politicians say if the "No League" faction wins out in the committee room fight, Senator Johnson would be the logical nominee of the convention. If unacceptable to the Republican Old Guard, as some still insist he is, then Philander C. Knox of Pennsylvania, Senator Boise Penrose's selection, or perhaps Senator Harding as "very strong" reactionist, might step in as a compromise.

WATSON FOR CHAIRMAN.

Senator James E. Watson of Indiana is most prominently mentioned today for chairman of the convention presidium committee which will bring out the party platform.

Senator Watson was a compromiser on the League of Nations covenant and sought to bring about its ratification with amendments. It is not believed his selection as chairman of the platform committee would meet with the support of the Johnson-Poindexter-Borah delegates or of those who are supporting the "irreconcilables."

Portions of the platform dealing with foreign relations are being perfected by Senator Lodge with the assistance of Senators Knox, Fall and Brandegee and others of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Senator Lodge is expected here Sunday.

It is understood that the plank dealing with the European situation will be a straddle, a definite commitment against interference in European domestic matters or alliances.

The plank dealing with Mexico, which Senator Fall, New Mexico, said to have drafted will favor intervention unless Mexico shall demonstrate that it is on the road to a stable government.

What Causes Wrinkles? What's the Remedy?

Stop to consider what produces wrinkles and sagginess of skin. Pronounce saying, malnutrition, etc., cause the flesh to shrink, lose its youthful plumpness and firmness. The skin then becomes too large for the flesh underneath, doesn't fit tightly and snugly as it used to—it wrinkles or sags.

It must be plain that to tighten the skin, make it fit the face perfectly in every place, will effectually remove the hateful wrinkles and bagginess. This is easily and harmlessly accomplished by dissolving an ounce of pure powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel and using the solution as a face wash. The beautifying effect you can get at any store, for a couple. The results are surprising. The skin immediately tightens and becoming firm and fresh as in youth. Every wrinkle and sag are affected at once.

BEECKMAN JARS G. O. P. RANKS

Attack on Party Machine Is Called an Open Appeal for Revolt

Chicago, June 4.—Governor R. Livingston Beeckman of Rhode Island was the storm centre of the Republican convention gathering today, following a bitter denunciation on the "Senate oligarchy" and the Republican machine.

"An open appeal for revolt" was the way the "stand-pat" chiefs interpreted the vitriolic outburst of the Rhode Island Governor.

Party whips were desperately busy trying to "head off" any such revolt. Indications were that the "Senate ring," scored roundly by Beeckman, was ready to make extraordinary concessions to appease the hurt feelings of the general run of delegates.

Governor Beeckman's attack was the more sensational in view of his record as a "safe and sane" Republican, dean of the Governors of American States and head of the delegation from Rhode Island.

CALLS LODGE A "ROGUE."

His caustic references to Senator Lodge and other "moguls" of the Upper House in the course of a newspaper interview were gladly acclaimed by hundreds of ordinary delegates who have resented the alleged dictatorship.

"One would think that the gathering here next week was to be a Senate caucus instead of a Republican national convention," commented the Rhode Island executive dryly.

"I read in the newspapers in Rhode Island, and others I obtained on my way here from New York, Indiana and Illinois, that Senator So and So was to be Temporary Chairman of the convention, and Senator So and So thinks he will become permanent chairman if he can get the support Senator Somebody Else. I read also that Senator So and So thinks he can be Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions, if he gets the support of Senator Somebody Else. And the proxy of some other Senator Somebody Else.

"I did not see anywhere the mention of a Republican member of the House of Representatives or any of the twenty-seven Republican Governors who will be here next week.

STANDS ON RIGHTS.

"I am the dean of Governors in this country. I have served three terms and have been offered a fourth nomination for the same office. I think I have the right to say that the Republican members of the House of Representatives and the twenty-seven Republican Governors should at least have been considered, if not consulted in the preliminaries to the convention."

"I am in great hopes that the convention will run the convention," he went on after a short pause. "I am in hopes that it will not be run by an outside autocratic body. I am not an autocrat. I do not believe in the substitution of autocratic for representative methods in our political actions."

Governor Beeckman's little "say" was extremely distasteful to Will Hayes, national chairman of the Republican National Committee, according to the politicians. He tried several times to stop the flow of eloquence and sarcasm from the Rhode Island insurgent.

Governor Beeckman concluded his talk by declaring that he was opposed to the election of any United States Senator to the presidency. He ironically alluded to the "twelve United States Senators who aspired."

Income Tax Payment Due on June 15

Notification of the imminence of the second quarterly instalment of the Federal income tax, which falls due before 5 p. m. June 15, was received by all taxpayers today. The bills were sent through the mail from the office of Internal Revenue Collector John J. Mitchell.

Attention was called to one item headed "balance," which was frequently misunderstood last year. This represents the total sum unpaid and not necessarily the amount due in the second instalment. Checks and money orders should be made payable to "Collector of Internal Revenue," and mailed to No. 80 Boylston street, Boston (11).

ARRESTED IN ATTEMPT TO SELL STOLEN STOCK

James Coughlin of Marney street, Cambridge, was arrested today in an attempt to sell stock certificates alleged to have been stolen from the store of Louis Seigal at No. 1178 Cambridge street, Cambridge, the night of May 8. Securities stolen were 2,000 shares of Imperial Consolidated Mining Company, valued at about $510, and 2,000 shares of Seven Metals valued at about $250, all the property of Max Berger of Cambridge. There was also taken from the safe $120, the property of Seigal. Inspectors Connolly, Dorsey and Laughlin arrested Coughlin in a brokerage office on Devonshire street, near State street, with 1,700 shares of the stock. Coughlan claimed he found the certificates on railroad tracks near the store. He was turned over to the Cambridge police.

RHUBARB SAUCE BURNS MELROSE CHILD TO DEATH

As a result of tipping over a dish of hot rhubarb sauce his mother had just placed on the kitchen table, Harry R. Ramsey, Jr., thirteen-months old, of No. 1 Perham court, Melrose, was so badly scalded that he died a short time later. The child was badly burned about the head and shoulders. The mother's cries brought the neighbors who called Dr. Roscoe D. Perley.

MEXICO A NATION OF 'GUN TOTING' GENERALS---IBANEZ

versity of the youngster in the preparatory school. Most of them hold some small job under the government of Porfirio Diaz, or else they were ordinary laborers, or even never-do-wells who enlisted under the revolutionary banner and managed to win the little gold eagle, which is the symbol of their present grade.

The highest original social rank that I found represented among the generals was that of university student. Scattered among the few officers of urban origin there are generals who were formerly "ranchers," cowboys from the cattle ranches. The vast majority of the generals, however, are men who have risen from the ranks of the peons.

Their Education.

Their education is of the most elementary character. Many of them can read and write, but that is all. They have learned their military tactics by experience, and they have learned their politics by listening to their city-bred comrades with wide open mouths and kindle at every mention of the word "liberty," "democracy," "redistribution of property," and so on—phrases they do not understand at all, but which send thrills of sacred consecration up and down their backs whenever they hear them!

All these generals boast of their humble origin, and go out of their way to refer to it as a title to distinction. Some of them are "Socialist generals," while others claim even to be Bolsheviks. However, their "comrades" of the rank and file must be careful not to carry the principles of brotherly love into matters of discipline. The "citizen general" is quite capable of ordering a hundred executions or so just to "keep order." The generals, as a rule, hate uniforms. Many of them never owned one. They pin the gold eagle to a coat lapel, or to their enormous felt hat, and they are ready for dress parade.

GUN NATION'S TOY.

The generals' outfit has one other distinctive mark—the revolver. I remember that as a boy I used to notice how generals in Spain, France and other European countries, when they were in citizen clothes, wore red sashes under their waistcoats. This was an indication of rank; and when they wished to be recognized, they simply lifted the flaps of their vests.

The Mexican general also has a sash, but a sash of tanned leather, a "Sam Brown" affair, stuffed with fifty cartridges or more, and a revolver usually worn in back. When, as you walk down a Mexican street, you meet a gentleman with the lower part of his vest unbuttoned, just enough to show the belt and the cartridges, you cannot be mistaken. He is a general, or at least a colonel, "of the revolution." He is taking his pistol out for a constitutional.

And what guns they wear! If you have never seen the revolvers of the Mexican War Lords, your education is still impossible. The wildest dreams of the most delirious German fire-eater who ever lived are surpassed by realities in Mexico. There are machine-gun pistols. There are pistols with folding stocks that can be instantaneously transformed into rifles. There are large-bore pistols made for firing explosive bullets. I left the country without getting to see the famous "papa and mama" pistols. But I was assured by people whom I trust, that there are pistols in Mexico which, when they are discharged, say "papa" or "mama" like the mechanical dolls of the toy shops. Some of them even play a piece of music.

ALWAYS CARRY WEAPONS.

At times you meet a short, hollow-chested neurotic looking fellow—fine pistols, these, in a regular holster. You wonder whether that is a man, or what in the world it is. There is no doubt in this case either. This time it is a pistol taking a general out to walk. Then again you are sitting in a train and suddenly you start with surprise. A general has just vanished through a little door marked "Gentlemen's"; but before hurrying away, he has taken off his belt and parked his artillery on the seat beside you.

The arguments that spring up at all hours of day and night between these armed men are a source of danger not only to themselves but to the public. At best, one general kills another at high noon in some candy store on the principal street of the city and nobody arrests him. Then again, two generals will open fire in the middle of a public park and the cannonade does not stop until all their ammunition has been exhausted. A matter of thirty or forty minutes, perhaps, and no casualties—unless perhaps some passer-by, not knowing that two generals are scowling at each other in that particular place, runs into a bullet before he can get away.

LIFE PERPETUAL MOVIE.

To be fair to the generals I must add that they are not the only people in Mexico who carry guns. Revolvers are as indispensable as a necktie to a gentleman's wardrobe. Mexico City, since the revolution began, has lived the life of a dime novel. The "movie" men do not have to rack their brains for subjects. They read the papers. Murders, assassinations, highway robberies, kidnaping, bands of masked men. The capital, no less, was the home of the famous "Band of the Gray Car." The Mexican public has always supposed that gang to have been in the employ of generals. People are even more specific: They allege that its leader was one of the present candidates for the presidency of the republic.

The only difference between general and civilian, in the matter of revolvers, is that the generals wear their guns in full view, while ordinary people keep them half concealed. The revolver is used for all sorts of purposes. Whenever I was at a picnic in the country, and a bottle had to be opened, some friend was sure suddenly to produce a pistol. "It's so much simpler, you see!" And civilian or soldier as he might chance to be, he would hammer away at the metal top of the bottle, until it came off. And the weapon was loaded all the time!

Mexico is a blessed country! There is something affable, vehement even, about its courtesy. When a friend shakes hands with you, he throws one arm over the shoulder of an acquaintance. I used, out of curiosity, to let my hand fall gradually downward toward his belt. It never got quite that far. In the neighborhood of the man's waist, I would always encounter a sort of metallic framework. It was the revolver and its sheath, along with a whole magazine of cartridges. The Mexican revolver is intended for the long-drawn-out battle. It requires a lavish supply of munitions.

CARRANZA SPOOFED "GAT."

For the life of me, I could never find out whether the Dean of the University also carried a gun. The sly fox always advoided my embrace, and his studious precautions against any such contingency left me convinced that my suspicions of him were well founded. "Oh, my dear So-and-So, so glad to see you." And it went around embracing them all one after the other, and they all had the inevitable revolver. When I say all, I mean all—ministers, under-secretaries, journalists, deputies and Senators—and these latter with good reason, because debates in Congress often end with an exchange of a bullet or two outside the chambers.

Even Carranza, as President of the Republic, used to carry, under his severe ceremonial frock coat, a horse pistol with an extra large supply of munitions. Poor Don Venustiano! He knew his times and his people only too well! He felt himself surrounded by experts in "dar la vuelta," by people only too ready to bite the hand that was feeding them.

POOLE NEW HEAD OF TRAVELERS

U. C. T. Convention Also Goes on Record as Opposed to Tipping

Charles A. Poole of Worcester was elected grand counsellor of the New England branch of the United Commercial Travelers of America, at the business meeting of the "knights of the grip" at the Elks' Home on Somerset street, today. He succeeds Charles P. Dogherty.

The convention voted down a resolution against the tipping practice and appointed a committee to confer with the hotel men's association regarding hotel rates for commercial travelers. Worcester was chosen for next year's convention and Springfield for 1922.

Other officers elected were: Everett B. Stacey of Lynn, grand junior councilor; Charles A. Haines of Melrose, re-elected grand secretary; George E. Stevens of Fitchburg, re-elected treasurer; Alley R. Knight, Auburn, Me., grand conductor; Thomas H. Hersey, Bangor, Me., grand page, and George A. Daniels of Everett, grand sentinel.

The following members of the executive committee were re-elected: Thomas G. Kaulbeck of Somerville, Lawrence P. Crocker of Wollaston, George E. Trudell of Manchester, N. H. and Frederick A. Grinley of New Haven.

A delegation of women from the women's auxiliary in Worcester presented Mr. Poole a bouquet of carnations.

An address by the secretary of the Springfield Chamber of Commerce, urging the approximately 2,000 delegates present to choose Springfield for their 1922 convention, was one of the features of the session. A telegram from the Mayor of Springfield extending the hospitality of Springfield was read.

The Bagmen's Frolic of the Oriental Guide of A. M. O. H. was scheduled to be inaugurated at the Bagmen's Home, Liberty Hall, Washington street, Roxbury. This ceremonial, performed on the largest class since the founding of the organization, is in charge of the Quinsig Guild of Worcester.

Following that, a reception and banquet at the American House was planned, at which George E. Hunt, Imperial Ruler of all Bagmen of America, was to be the principal guest.

The thousand or more women in town to the convention were entertained by a shopping tour with luncheon served at one of the department stores.

The big night of the convention will take place tonight at the Uno of field sports carried out.

'Babe' Ruth's Wife an Ardent 'Fan'

MRS. GEORGE HERMAN RUTH.

This woman's husband is the most-talked-of man in the United States in spite of the presidential campaigns, peace treaty arguments and other subjects of national interest.

She is Mrs. George Herman Ruth, wife of "Babe" Ruth, Yankee outfielder and home-run king. "Babe's" home-run record has aroused interest all over the country, and millions are watching and reading of his daily doings on the baseball diamonds. In every place where sport is talked of, Babe Ruth is the topic of conversation. To date he has hit fifteen home-runs, and each game promises to add to the list.

Mrs. Ruth is an ardent fan, and every day is at the ball park to root for her husband. They have been married six years.

MANY JOUNCES IN WELD STREET

Thoroughfare Has Holes in It From an Inch to a Foot in Depth

"Andrew, such roads as that are a disgrace to the city of Boston."

This was the recent comment of a close friend of Mayor Peters, according to Manager Murphy of the Weld estate, where the Mayor is accustomed to take his ride along the bridle paths.

The comment was made after the Mayor's companion had just made the trip from Boston over Weld street, which is in abominable condition due to lack of interest on the part of the city authorities. The Mayor's companion had been considerably shaken up, as are about 2,000 other people each day who use this street to Rhode Island and New York.

Mayor Peters, according to the story, who was seated on his horse at the time, laughingly replied, "Don't worry, we will have half a million dollars to put these roads in repair shortly."

HOLES A FOOT DEEP.

Pock-marked from one end to the other with holes varying in depth from an inch to a foot, Weld street is dreaded by all who drive over it, although it is usually taken in preference to Washington street. In fact, there is no day of getting in or out of Boston en route for the shore line without going over roads which are a disgrace to the city.

There is no need for such a condition, according to prominent citizens, for if sufficient interest could be awakened in City Hall, some way could be found to use the taxpayers' money to improve the taxpayers' thoroughfares.

TIRED OF EXCUSES.

"If Mayor Peters won't fix the roads," declared a prominent citizen, "he should at least take the trouble to have signs printed to read something like this, 'Dangerous—road unfit for traffic—drive slowly'—in order that visitors coming into our city might not endanger their lives.

"We are weary of hearing excuses for the condition of the streets of Boston. We don't want a man at the head of things who is good on offering excuses; we want someone who will do things. Mayor Peters has been in City Hall for a long time. Little if anything has been accomplished to put our streets into good condition. Now who run for second terms, or first terms for that matter, either for Mayor or Governor, usually have to have something to show the people whose affairs they administer."

HIGH SUGAR LAID TO TINKHAM

Talk of Shortage Created Demand, Says Minority Report of House Committee

Representative Tinkham of Massachusetts was held responsible for the high price of sugar in a report of minority members of the House sugar investigating committee at Washington.

At the same time it was announced here that there is plenty of sugar on the local market, the high prices having brought out vast quantities.

The House minority report says Tinkham, by repeated statements about a shortage of sugar, created a demand on the part of the public resulting in the rise in price.

BABY SHOT BY BOY WITH PISTOL MAY DIE

Ashland, June 4.—Hans Knobel, two years old, is not expected to live as a result of a wound in his head received from a bullet from a revolver in the hands of Carleton Dix, fourteen years old. Dix fired at a tree stump. The bullet struck the Knobel child as he was playing in his yard.

Accept 15 Per Cent. Increase

Fall River, June 4.—The firemen employed by the Sanford Spinning Company have voted to accept the 15 per cent. increase.

POMEROY ELECTED HEAD OF 'LIFE-TIMERS' OF U. S.

Jesse Pomeroy, famous life-time prisoner at the Charlestown State prison, has been elected president of the "Lifers' Club," an organization comprised of 154 "life-timers" in penitentiaries in every part of the country. The society has been formed by Captain Thomas Anderson of New York, a Salvation Army prison parole officer. The "Lifers' Club" is an outgrowth of the Brighter Day League.

OPPOSES RAISE FOR TRAIN DISPATCHERS

Chicago, June 4.—W. K. Hallett, general manager of the Bangor and Aroostook Railroad, told the United States Railroad Labor Board that train dispatchers in New England should not be given an increase in wages. He stated that they are now paid wages equal to those given skilled mechanics. E. T. Whiter, representing the dispatchers, presented evidence to prove that the trainmen are justified in asking for more salary.

SENATE GETS REPORT ON REPEAL OF WARTIME ACTS

Washington, June 4—Repeal of all war-time legislation with the exception of the Lever act and the trading with the enemy act, is provided by the terms of a resolution favorably reported to the Senate today by the Senate Judiciary Committee. The resolution passed the House late yesterday.

Says Fat People Now Rejoice

Testimony Proves Arbolene Safe, Sure Reducer.

Enjoys Wide Sale Amongst Educated Wealthy Set.

The physician who originated the Anti-Fat treatment known to physicians and druggists as "five-grain tablets Arbolene" is being praised and thanked by scores of women in the class known as "society devotees."

A literary woman in Los Angeles, being so highly extoll over her success in reducing, has written a clever little poem, which reelles the facts and expresses deep gratitude as well. To safely and surely produce from 20 to 60 pounds is easily accomplished when tablets Arbolene are used regularly. They are not drastic or dangerous, used as directed, but simply dissolve and dissolve the fatty elements and eliminate from the system. Also, they remove the craving for such foods as are not desirable for fat folks to use. Hence, while the user is superior to all other anti-fat medicines, as it automatically overcomes the abnormal, perverted appetite for starchy foods, etc. Sold by all druggists in sealed tubes with full directions.—Advertisement.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia To Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are positive certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to ulcers accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and ideal right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no indigestion left. Bisurated Magnesia (not the tablet form—ask for powder or tablet form—ask for powder or milk) is harmless in the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of Magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals no more fear of indigestion.

HULL ROUSED OVER ARREST

Charges Against Prohibition Agent McCarthy Results in Faction Lineup

A bitter fight was in progress today between the "wets" and "drys" of Hull, following a clash in authority between Federal Prohibition Agent William J. McCarthy and the Hull police.

Both sides were making a political issue of the summoning of McCarthy to Hingham Court on charges of violation of the auto laws, use of profanity to a police officer of Hull, and disturbance of the peace.

The out-and-out "bone-dry" adherents maintained that McCarthy was the victim of hindrance and persecution because he was trying to enforce the prohibition law and drive up the various cases which are said to dot the Nantasket landscape.

The "wets" were strong for the local police. They said McCarthy got what was coming to him, and that he considered himself above the village laws.

From Atty. McCarthy's Boston office came the statement that his car was hailed and he was served with a summons while he was chasing an auto truck loaded with liquor. The truck got away.

CHIEF DEFENDS MARSHALL.

This statement was termed ridiculous by Chief of Police Frank M. Reynolds of Hull. Chief Reynolds said that he had implicit confidence in Officer Marshall, the policeman who halted McCarthy, and that Marshall reported that there was not a truck of any kind on the scene when he held up the prohibition agent.

Mr. McCarthy was summoned to appear in Hingham Court today, but no arrangement was given a continuance until next Tuesday.

Lively tilting between counsel and snappy testimony by well known Bostonians resident in Hull are expected when the case comes to trial. Several prominent Wareland inhabitants were eye-witnesses of the altercation which led to McCarthy being ordered into court.

It all started when McCarthy, accompanied by a subordinate, drove through Hull at an excessive rate of speed, according to Officer Marshall. He refused to obey the officer's "stop" signal, it is charged.

CHARGES OF RUNGLING.

When finally overtaken, it is alleged that he jumped from his machine, showed the badge of his office, and denounced the local police of Hull for bungling.

Marshall charges that McCarthy and his companion did not have operators' licenses or registration and that they resorted to profane language to express their opinion of Hull's police force, and that they generally assaulted the peace of the neighborhood.

Beyond denying the existence of the liquor-laden auto, Chief Reynolds would not discuss the feud between his officers and the prohibition forces today. He declared he "would try his case in court."

Autoists Pay Fines

For violation of traffic laws, fourteen automobilists were arraigned today in Waltham Court. One paid a fine of $5; one, $15, and twelve, $10 each.

IRISH RESOLVE CHLOROFORMED

Gallivan Charges Republican Leaders Have Killed Mason's Measure

By International News Service.

Washington, June 4.—Charges that the Republican House leaders had "chloroformed" the Mason resolution recognizing the Irish Republic were made by Representative James A. Gallivan of Massachusetts today. He pointed to Speaker Gillett's statement that no one would be recognized in order to bring the resolution before the House.

Representative William E. Mason, Illinois, author of the resolution, wrote a letter to Representative Porter, which the latter made public today, in which the resolution was placed in the hands of Mr. Porter, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, with the request that he "make every effort to get action" on the resolution.

Mr. Mason pointed out the Speaker already had stated flatly that he would refuse recognition to any one attempting to bring the resolution up. Representative Gallivan expressed the belief that nothing could save the resolution from "burial."

GROCER APPEALS FINE FOR SUNDAY SELLING

Marcus Zintz, a grocer, of Freeport street, Dorchester, was fined $20 in Dorchester court today for violation of the Lord's Day law. Special Officer Patrick J. McNally testified Zintz sold him supplies amounting to $1.10 last Sunday. Zintz appealed.

CIRCUS FOLK HOLD DANCE

Burlesque on Own Show Also Features Midnight Entertainment

The "Big Top" at the Sells-Floto Circus was the scene last night of a unique event, when performers staged a burlesque on their own show at the conclusion of the regular entertainment, for the benefit of the hundreds of people who travel with the Sells-Floto enterprise. A midnight luncheon and a dance which lasted into the small hours followed the parody circus.

"Poodles" Hanniford, La Belle Victoria, and other of the noted artists who are features of the show, participated in the festivities, which included a burlesque of "George, the Carpenter." Georges himself occupied a grandstand seat, with his wife and afterwards enjoyed the dancing, taking as his partner in some of the American fox-trots Victoria, the "queen of the wire."

FREAKS ARE SPECTATORS.

Interesting as well as interested spectators of the presentation were the various freaks which compose the side shows. There was the fat girl, the tattooed girl, and all the rest of the traditional side-show figures.

Alfredo Vadoni gave an "impression" of "Daddy Mack," one of the show's famous aerialists. "Slats" Benson was leader of the ballet in the imitation "concert," which was also a part of the program.

GALA NIGHT FOR PERFORMERS.

"Loretta" who acted as announcer, and Art Borella, the "equestrian director," conducted rehearsals for the affair, and were in charge of the program. Art Monette took the role of "George, the Carpenter," and did three fast rounds with hammer, saw, and an assortment of boards. He was "Kayoed" by Herbert Hobart, the star "kid" performer of the Sells-Floto outfit, who is a member of the Riding Hobson Family.

It was a gala night for the performers, with oceans of circus lemonade and the band of the aggregation working overtime.

The Family Who Begged—for Dessert

"I'd just like to make some ice cream for dinner tonight," said Mrs. Graham as she and Mrs. Norton sat sewing on the porch one afternoon.

"But my ice cream always turns out thin and watery."

"Did you ever try making ice cream with Puddine?" asked Mrs. Norton.

"I think I have tried making it with everything under the sun!" exclaimed Mrs. Graham.

"Puddine makes ice cream smooth and velvety," said Mrs. Norton. "You'll be delighted with it."

"What is it?" said her friend.

"It's a prepared dessert," she answered, "and more. You see, I never had much success with making cornstarch pudding, and one day somebody told me about Puddine. Now we almost live on it."

"Is it hard to make?" inquired Mrs. Graham.

"Oh, no; all you do is to add sugar and milk, either fresh or condensed, and boil three minutes. It always turns out right. I pour mine into a mold, and then when it cools, have a firm, smooth dessert, rich and creamy. And it's so pure and wholesome, I let the children have as much of it as they want."

"What flavor is it?" said her friend.

"Oh, you can get any flavor you like—your favorite—chocolate, vanilla, orange or lemon—and it's so economical. Why, one 15c package will serve 15 people, or you can buy the 10c size."

"But you said something about making ice cream with it," said Mrs. Graham.

"Yes, indeed," answered Mrs. Norton emphatically. "There is the simplest and finest recipe in the Puddine package. And as for pie and cake fillings—well, you'll be delighted with their richness and creaminess."

A few days later the friends met.

"My dear," exclaimed Mrs. Graham, "I bought some Puddine and made the most delicious ice cream you ever tasted, and now my family fairly begs for a Puddine dessert for every meal."

Get some Puddine at your grocer's today.—Adv.

CAN THIS MAN WIN?

Claim Nation-Wide Appeal for Gov. Edwards

The first article of the American's review of the Democratic presidential possibilities deals with Governor Edwards of New Jersey, and follows:

By WALTER W. VICK,
National Campaign Manager for Governor Edwards of New Jersey.

Only after it became apparent that there was a nation-wide demand for him did Governor Edwards consent to become an avowed candidate for the Democratic nomination for President.

His attitude on public questions has always been based on conviction and principle, and he has ever been averse to any action tending to promote his own political position that possibly might place misconstruction on his fight for sane and constitutional democracy.

Thus, with an intimate touch with the prevailing sentiment and country-wide outburst of enthusiasm, following his announcement, do not entertain the word "chance."

HAS STURDY VIRTUES.

We are firm in the conviction that the Democratic convention at San Francisco will see so clearly that, through him alone as standard bearer, is victory possible, that he will be nominated immediately after the complimentary ballots have been cast for the favorite sons.

Why he should be nominated is simple. The country in this tense situation is crying for the fundamentals established by the Fathers of our country, the democracy of Jefferson, the hickory sturdiness of Jackson, and the broad national vision of Lincoln.

I believe the people want, not a professional, but a human, red-blooded American who has successfully demonstrated in his business public and private life the courage of his convictions and the integrity of his position.

FREED FROM SHAM.

Free from sham, repugnant to political expediency and firmly braced upon a record of achievement, Edward I. Edwards stands out prominently as the one leader who can triumphantly carry the Democratic banner to success in 1920.

There can be no doubt that his admin. stration will be one entirely in sympathy with the traditions, which have made our country the greatest on the face of the globe. He has moulded his own character from the crude beginning, from life on a farm, up through successive steps to a business and public position that demands and receives the highest admiration.

His public career as State Senator, comptroller and Governor of New State of New Jersey is proof of his statesmanship, and he is of a kind that is vitally necessary to combat and overcome successfully the problems which today are paralyzing our national existence.

HIS POLICIES KNOWN.

His private life is one of that homely simplicity, always recognized as the foundation stone of true Americanism.

Governor Edwards will be nominated and he will be elected, because he will grant to the country the opportunity of a safe business administration, and he will safeguard the rights of State sovereignty and personal liberty written into the Constitution of this government close to a century and a half ago.

His position on public questions of the moment is unassailable. His treatment of situations affecting economic conditions and conditions of labor and industry have been generously approved.

His attitude towards the American soldier, and the debt of the country to him, will bring him the united support of that vast army which made victory possible in the World War.

WAS FOR SUFFRAGE.

His proven position on woman suffrage commands the gratitude of the country.

Edwin I. Edwards is the Democrat who has the nation's confidence and can WIN. To thwart his candidacy means certain defeat.

The strength which will carry him to victory is his sincere sympathy with the deepest and courageous aspirations of the entire country without regard to political expediency.

Courage, determination and achievements are the watchwords of this man of fee and by the people.

Tomorrow—Senator Robert L. Owen.

STONE FAMILY GATHERS IN LEXINGTON CHURCH

The Stone Family Association met today in the Lexington First Parish Unitarian Church, Charles Wellington Stone of Boston presiding. Papers were read by the historian J. Gardner Bartlett of Cambridge on "An Outline of the Ancestry and Life of Daniel Clifford Stone" by the president, Mr. Stone, on "A Testimonial of the Work of Daniel Clifford Stone for the Stone Family Association," and by the vice-president, George Hunt Barton of Cambridge, on "Deacon Gregory Stone at the Battle of Lexington," this paper prepared by Daniel Clifford Stone.

SISTER CLAIMS JEWELS OF BARONESS DE MUMM

Newport, R. I., June 4—The mystery in the Baroness de Mumm Seville case is said to have been cleared by Paris lawyers. The jewels seized by the French authorities are now said to be the property of Mrs. Louis S. Treadwell of Newport a sister of the Baroness. The jewels were supposed to belong to the Baroness. The seizure, it is said, is a prelude to a dispute over the entire De Mumm estate.

TWO-THIRDS OF STRIKERS RETURN AT BRISTOL, R. I.

Bristol, R. I., June 4—Two-thirds of the striking employes returned to work at the National India Rubber Company's plant here today in disorder accompanying the return. After a tour of inspection, Adjutant-General Charles W. Abbott, Jr., and Major Harry C. DuBois dismissed the Coast Artillery Corps, but retained the cavalry. Military men say that the cavalry will be held another week.

REPORT 253 NEW MEASLES CASES

Health Board Announces 5,519 Had Malady Here During Past Year

During the year 5,519 cases of measles were brought to the attention of the Health Department, according to a report just issued. A total of 253 new cases were reported during the past week.

"Measles is a very catching disease and causes over 100 deaths each year in Boston," says the report. "Many of these deaths could be avoided by proper isolation precautions. Children are frequently exposed to the disease intentionally to get it over with. Considering the high death rate of measles, as compare to that disease also exposes the child to fatal results. With the proper care in isolation of real or suspected cases of measles and the elimination of needless exposures to the disease, its prevalence will rapidly diminish."

Only nine deaths from whooping cough were also reported, making a total of 152 this year.

"There is no definite cure for smallpox," the report declared, in commenting upon the nine cases reported in Boston this year" but there is a safe method of procedure that will prevent a person from contracting the disease and that method is vaccination."

WOMAN COMPLAINS OF GAMBLING AT WARREN, R. I.

Providence, June 4—"Please do what you can for a suffering mother," is the appeal of Mrs. Olive Laferrier of Warren who says the town supports a dozen gambling. Establishments have formed a political organization and officers say the question of State wide gambling will be barred. In other sections of the State, where it is admitted gambling flourishes it is of the "high" was passed to "get the money," as everything is fixed.

NEIGHBORHOOD SPIRIT URGED

Major Underwood Tells Salvation Army Workers to Aid Care-Worn Mothers

Study your neighborhood and get in touch with mothers was the advice of Major Edward Underwood at an informal conference of the Salvation Army held today in the Argonne Hotel. Conference members later enjoyed an outing at Nantasket beach.

Major Underwood, in outlining what the Salvation Army could do as its share in post-war work, said:

"We must let the people see we are eager to serve them. That's important. See what you can do to brighten the home life. Get into touch with the cares and burdens oppressing mothers. Help them to get a better hold of them. Make yourself useful where you live.

"People want to see other people and talk with them and get advice from them. This is our opportunity in many places and we can do a great deal of good in this way.

"Urge people to bank their money. Tell them they must save so much every week. People need to be instructed on this matter as well as to be reminded. Get the working man in the right place. Many of them are working at small wages when they are capable of earning more money. If you place a man where he can better serve his family by earning more money you are helping along the neighborhood and the public will stand for our common interest in these matters."

IMPOSE $18,000 FINE FOR PROFITEERING

Rochester, N. Y., June 4—A fine of $18,000 for profiteering was imposed on the Antwerp Diamond Company which operates three credit jewelry and clothing stores in Buffalo. The company was found guilty in the United States District Court here of a violation of the Lever Act by charging unjust and unreasonable prices for clothing.

CREW OF 8 BELIEVED LOST WITH SCHOONER

Disaster is believed to have overtaken the new four-masted schooner Amelia Zeman, which has not been heard from since Fourteen 18, when she cleared from Hampton Roads on her way to San Domingo with coal. The eight men comprising the crew are believed to have perished.

The Amelia Zeman's career ends upon her maiden voyage, she having been completed only a month prior to starting out. She was owned by David Cohen & Co. of New York.

HARVARD PRESENTED FRANK MILLET BUST

Admirers of the late Frank Millet, mural artist and news correspondent, have presented Harvard with a bust of their friend, which will be set in place on a pedestal leading to the general reading room. TAG DAY TO AID ITALIAN FUND

Three Hundred Pretty Girls to Help Children's Home Drive Tomorrow

A tag day in the interests of the Italian Fund for the establishment of a home for Italian children will be held tomorrow. The committee is preparing a large number of attractive tags this year, the number originally printed for the two weeks ago, but owing to bad weather it was put over until tomorrow.

The tagging will be carried on by three hundred pretty Italian girls under the personal direction of Miss Amelia De Ferrari. Many of the girls will be distributed throughout the theatre and shopping districts and at all subways and elevated stations. A group will also be stationed at Brazer Field. In addition, to the Tag Day a parade will be held shortly after noon participated in by a large number of the members of the Ausonia Council, K. of C., the Mazzini Association and Boy Scouts.

An Appeal to All Horse Drivers

PEDRO.

This Boston American horse has won six blue ribbons in the Boston Work-horse parade and is a model of good grooming for other horse drivers to look at

The following appeal for better treatment for work-horses has been issued by the Boston Work-Horse Relief Association:

"Most of the work-horses in Boston look badly. This is owing partly to the severe Winter and to the high price of hay and grain; but in most cases it is owing to neglect and rough treatment by drivers or grooms. Grooming is almost a lost art. Even the well-groomed horses that you see in the parade will not look so well a month later. The men, we are sorry indeed to say, soon begin to neglect them. At least, it always has been so, but we hope that this year they will do better. No work-horse can be healthy or feel well without good grooming. Without it, dried sweat, dead skin and dirt clog the pores of the skin and affect the health of the horse.

"Moreover, the dandruff in a horse's coat is very salt, as every man who handles horses knows, and after the animal has been sweated this dandruff adheres to the skin, causes itching, and prevents the horse from resting properly at night. (This is a good reason for cleaning him at night.) No horse can be beautiful or look his best without good grooming. Even a thin, old or badly-shaped horse can be made to look well by faithful grooming; and one would think that every driver in the world would have pride enough to keep his horses looking as well as they are capable of looking.

"But, worst of all, is the rough treatment which most work-horses receive. Few drivers seem to realize that the horse is the most nervous, the most sensitive, the most easily bothered animal in the world. Without meaning to be cruel, they speak roughly to him, when they might speak quietly. They jerk the bit, when a gentle pull on the reins, or even a word, would be sufficient.

"The eyes and ears of the horse tell the story. If he has a good driver, his ears incline forward, not backward, and his eyes will have a calm, contented look; whereas, if the driver is a bad one, the horse's ears will incline backward, and his eyes will have a nervous, uneasy, frightened look that is easily recognized. How is it with your horse?"

CHARLESTOWN PLANS FOR 17TH

Banquets Will Usher in Bunker Hill Day Fete—Parade Will Be Big Feature

With banquets the "night before" and with an all day celebration featured by a military and civic parade on the afternoon of the 17th, Bunker Hill Day at Charlestown promises this year to surpass any of the celebrations of the past.

The American Legion will have an active part in the observance. Every post in Suffolk County has been invited to march in the parade, and it is expected that several thousand ex-service men will fall in line. Detachments will be in line from the various Charlestown societies, and ones from camp fires of sailors from warships stationed at the Navy Yard and a score or more of boats will be in line.

The celebration is in the hands of a body which has been made into a Permanent Bunker Hill Day committee. Dr. Blagdon is president and John Winn, secretary.

The principal banquet of "the night before" will take place at the Knights of Columbus clubhouse. The invited guests include Governor Coolidge, Senator Lodge, Admiral Benson and Congressman Tague. Banquets will also be given by the Cleveland Club, Representative James J. Mellen's Jefferson Club, at which Judge Cohalan

Club and the Father Matthew's Temperance Society.

Legion will open its new club house and will observe "open house" all day. A flag will be raised over the clubhouse in the afternoon and in the evening a dance will be conducted by its members.

FERNCROFT AT PUBLIC AUCTION

In order to close the estate of the late

HARRY K. MANSFIELD

we have been authorized by the special administrators to sell FERNCROFT INN, situated in Middleton and Danvers, Mass., at PUBLIC AUCTION on Tuesday, June 8, at 3 P. M., on the Premises

The property consists of 41 acres of high rolling land and beautiful and extensive views over Essex County and only a short distance from the Newburyport Turnpike.

The main building consists of three large dining and dance room bar, private dining rooms, office, kitchens, refrigerating room, sleeping quarters for the help and private suite for the owner; in fact, it is the most complete of its kind in New England.

The main house is completely furnished with all equipment, furniture, dishes, silverware, etc., and is ready for an immediate opening. Besides the main house there is a bungalow, modern stable and two large garages. The sale will also include a Ren truck used on the premises and bought in 1919, and a Renault limousine.

To put together such a plant as FERNCROFT in its present complete condition would involve an expenditure of from $75,000 to $100,000. FERNCROFT is known throughout the country as one of the most successful inns and an opportunity is now offered to purchase it at a one's own price.

Premises are open for inspection every day until the sale.

TERMS: $2500 in cash or certified check. Balance in 15 days.

RAILROAD UNION FOR McADOO

Johnson Only Republican With a Strong Labor Following; Palmer Opposed

By International News Service.

Montreal, June 4—This city, under the British flag, has taken on some of Chicago's political atmosphere.

With the arrival of delegates for the fortieth annual convention of the American Federation of Labor the question of who will be the next President of the United States has become one of the chief topics of conversation.

According to opinions expressed here are at present in labor but only one is a Republican, Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California. There is little doubt that Johnson and William G. McAdoo, Democrat, are the two favorites of labor.

Senator Johnson's labor record is described as 100 per cent good. Although he is not classed as a railroad man because of his absence when the Cummins-Esch bill was up.

It is accepted as a fair forecast of opinion that some 60,000 railroad workers are almost solidly for Mr. McAdoo.

Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer seems to head labor's "Black List." Some of the delegates here offered to bet $1000 that no union man would vote for him if he were nominated. General Leonard Wood is apparently a dead second to Mr. Palmer in favor. This is said to be so over his connection with the steel strike and because he is a military man.

Herbert Hoover is unpopular because of his independent of the open shop. Senator Harding came in for a share because of his advocacy of anti-strike legislation. Governor Lowden of Illinois seems to have some following among the Illinois coal miners.

If Governor Henry J. Allen of Kansas proves to be the "dark horse" at the Chicago convention probably he will prove as unpopular as Palmer.

William Jennings Bryan is expected to be the champion of labor at the San Francisco convention.

Governor Edwards of New Jersey has some supporters because of his anti-prohibition views. It is likely, however, that Senator Owen would receive labor's support in preference to any other candidate nominated either by the Democrats or Republicans, with the exception of Senator Johnson.

Representatives of coal miners from Ohio and Indiana declare that Governor Cox of Ohio, Democrat, is acceptable to the mine workers.

CLAIM HYSLOP HAS BRAIN HEMORRHAGE

New York, June 4—Professor James H. Hyslop, famous psychologist and physical research leader, who claimed to have held spiritual communication with the late Professor James of Harvard, has suffered from a hemorrhage of the brain. This was brought out in affidavits filed in the Supreme Court in connection with an action brought against the American Institute for Psychical Research, which Dr. Hyslop helped to found and of which he was secretary. The hemorrhage occurred several months ago and the professor formerly connected with Columbia University has been unable to sit up alone.

Mail Clerks Grateful for Aid of Boston American

Editor American:

As secretary of the Massachusetts State Branch of the United National Association of Postoffice Clerks, I wish to publicly voice my appreciation of the wonderful campaign you so vigorously waged in your paper during the past several weeks that the postal employes might be granted a just living wage. We will always feel indebted to you for your forceful and convincing editorials.

The mere fact that the Postal Wage Commission sees fit to accord to us an annual wage which, according to conservative statisticians, is at least $200 less than we had every right to expect and had been encouraged to believe we would receive—all this does not detract in the least from your generous support.

Our national president, C. P. Francuseu, in a telegram received today, informs us that he has filed a protest stating that the Wage Bill is unsatisfactory to the association.

Meanwhile, we will accept what is now offered to us, on the strength of the old saying that "Part of a loaf is better than no bread at all."

THOMAS F. DOLAN,
Secretary-Treasurer.

CLOSE HEARING AGAINST OFFICER

Judge Burke to Give Decision on Petition for Assault Warrant Tomorrow

Judge Burke today in municipal court concluded the hearing of charges by Hyman Colton of No. 127 Dover street that he had been assaulted and beaten by Special Officer John A. Sullivan in the guard room of the Lagrange street police station. Colton is seeking a warrant for Sullivan's arrest.

On conclusion of testimony, Judge Burke reserved decision until tomorrow.

Sergeant Michael J. Trainor of the Lagrange street station, who was on duty at 2 a.m. May 22, when the alleged assault took place, was the principal witness. He testified that when Colton reached the station there were no marks upon him; that Officer Sullivan and Patrolman John C. McCarthy took the prisoner into the guard room where they talked with him for three-quarters of an hour that when Colton was taken from the guard room to a cell his (Trainor's) back was turned and he did not see the prisoner. He testified at first that the place was so still "you could hear a pin drop," but in reply to questioning by Attorney John W. Connerly, counsel for Colton, he admitted that a typewriter was going and that he could not hear the voices in the guard room.

James H. Devlin, Jr., secretary to Police Commissioner Curtis, was present in behalf of Sullivan, but did not argue. Judge Burke, who at yesterday's hearing expressed doubt of Colton's story, said today in commenting on the testimony: "If these officers went to this man's house to arrest him, they might have beaten him and blamed it to the difficulty of making the arrest, but why it should happen in the guard room I am at a loss to say. If this officer beat Colton he should be punished and should have no place in the police department. If this case were not one involving the police department I should not have wasted so much time upon it. At present I feel that I shall dismiss the application for a warrant, unless I change my mind before tomorrow."

TO OPPOSE ATTEMPT TO FREE MISS ZIMMERMAN

Springfield, June 4—District Attorney Charles H. Wright, who prosecuted Jennie G. Zimmerman for the murder of her cousin, Dr. Henry Zimmerman declares that the Commonwealth will oppose every move to have her released from the Northampton Insane Asylum. Attorney W. G. McKechnie, counsel for Miss Zimmerman, is expected to make a fight for her freedom within the next few months.

Strike Settled in Two Hours

Pawtucket, June 4—It took two hours to settle a barbers strike here. Journeymen barbers dropped their razors and shears and demanded $30 a week and 50 per cent on personal weekly earnings over $44. Master barbers offered a $22 salary with 40 per cent over $30 earned weekly. The compromise was accepted within two hours.

Nationalists Win in County Tyrone

Dublin, June 4—County Tyrone in Ulster Province went Nationalist for the first time in Thursday's election, according to tabulated returns today. Ulster Province is the stronghold of the Unionists or anti-Home Rulers. The Sinn Fein swept Southern Ireland. An attempt was made to burn the Ballyshannon courthouse during the balloting.

Irish attorneys are complaining over loss of business since the Sinn Fein has established courts and rural councils to settle land disputes.

North End Tenant Complains of Increased Rent and Lack of Repairs

Albert T. Magolitti an overseas veteran of No. 182 Endicott street, told the committee his family, recently ordered to move when they protested about the increase to Mayor Mansfield. He said rents for Patriotic Mortgage of No. 177 Endicott street is a bonus.

Magolitti said the family of six live in a three room tenement on the top floor for which has been increased three times in three months.

The increases were for $1 each the last raising the rent to $18 a month. Witness added that the roof and door was off its hinges, windows in bad shape, walls were broken and many pipes loose.

RAILWAY CLERKS DEMAND JUSTICE

Mail Workers Ready to Fight to Bitter End for Adequate Wages; Get No Extra Pay for Overtime

behalf of all legislation for postal employes, recommended that we support the postal commission a bill,

"Individual members of the commission assured me that where there are discrepancies they will be corrected at the very earliest opportunity, as the gentleman Malden says that bill is not the last word by any means and postal employes have every right to insist on further increased compensation when Congress is called together again.

"In the debate on the measure in the House Representative Tinkham of Lexington and Boston were almost alone in urging a raise for railway clerks. However, I have a belief that before the end of the present session of Congress some measure will be passed to give railway clerks an increase. I am hopeful that the House Committee on Rules will soon grant the necessary rule to make in order the passage of such a bill. It is my hope that before Congress will revise the scale of wages upwards, as has been promised by several members of this commission.

"I am keenly disappointed that those men have not received what they have been promised but I have such faith in them I know that they will continue to give the best that is in them despite the fact that their hopes are temporarily dashed."

Railway Clerks Will Fight for Justice

We may be beaten for the present, but the Postal Wage Commission will find us at their door [illegible] more bitter and far more [illegible] than—just ca." today declared C. L. Luckenbach, president of the Boston Branch, U. S. Railway Mail Association, in a statement on the postal employes wage [illegible] by the Congressional Commission.

President Luckenbach described the conditions under which the railway mail clerks are now working. While we receive a small compensation for our expenses, figured on a yearly basis, [illegible] begin until after ten hours away from home," he stated. "In no case do we receive extra expense money or extra compensation for late trains.

WORKED LONG HOURS.

"During the past Winter some clerks worked as much as one hundred hours in one month, due to late trains and extra running. In several instances it has happened that clerks, after completing a 200-mile or longer trip, where the trains have been late, were compelled to commence their return trip from Boston without even time to go to their homes.

"This is a condition which exists in the railway mail service, and [illegible] of the officials [illegible] does not [illegible] and a [illegible] an accident [illegible] crease pay does [illegible] to care for the passage of such a bill. It is the hope that when Congress will revise the scale of wages upwards, as has been promised by several members of this commission.

300,000 Postal Workers Benefit by Raise

Washington, June 4—Without a dissenting vote the House passed a bill reclassifying the salaries of all postal employes. The measure increases the total of salaries paid by $34,275,087 during the fiscal year 1921. Favorable action by the Senate before adjournment is [illegible] that clerks will receive salaries ranging from $1,400 to $1,500 with compensation for 208 days' service; [illegible] for 260 days' service with 10 days' sick leave each year, which shall be cumulative for three years. Promotions in salary [illegible] are limited [illegible] for postmasters, inspectors in charge and superintendents of the railway mail service.

The increases average 10 per cent, although many employes, notably rural carriers, will receive a higher [illegible] of increase.

PETITION TO CONGRESS

To the Congress of the United States:

I appeal to the members of Congress to use their influence in securing the passage of legislation which will provide a suitable, living wage for the employes of the postal service.

I ask that some action be taken to prevent the continued and increasing number of resignations of highly-trained, capable and efficient employes, who are forced to seek other lines of business, with a consequent impairment of the postal service.

I appeal to Congress for immediate action, on the part of two hundred and fifty thousand postal employes, in order to save the postal service from complete collapse.

HUNGARY TREATY IS SIGNED

Allied Council Now Has Only to Consider Peace Terms With Turkey

By International News Service.

Paris, June 4—The signing of the Hungarian peace treaty in the Grand Trianon palace at Versailles this afternoon left only the Turkish treaty to be considered. By the terms of the treaty Hungary gives up tracts of land to Poland, Rumania and Czecho-Slovakia.

Seventeen allied nations were invited to sign the treaty, including the United States. Ambassador Hugh C. Wallace acted for America. The French delegation was headed by Premier Millerand and included Minister of Finance Marsal, M. Cambon of the foreign office and M. Paleologue.

The Hungarian delegation included Dr. Augusts Bernard, minister of labor; Alfred Hasa and M. Praszowski.

FINAL HEARING IN ROLLINS CASE

Judges Announce All Evidence Must Be in Hand To-morrow

Judges Brown and Keating, the attorneys for George and Charles Rollins and Assistant District-Attorney Gallagher have announced that they will finish the hearing on the application for new trials for the Rollins boys, convicted of murders, tomorrow.

With one exception the witnesses offered by Major Thomas L. Walsh and Judge Thomas H. Connolly, counsel for the brothers will by their testimony corroborate the confession of Jesse Murphy, Pennsylvania convict, who has confessed to the two murders and who exonerates the Rollins brothers of complicity.

"Lawyers who are interested in the case from the various legal phases of it are curious as to what the assistant district attorney's course will be in his attempt to repudiate the confession. At first the prosecuting officer was determined to claim that Murphy was insane. Since the testimony of Dr. W. M. Lynch of Pennsylvania at the last session of the hearing he announced frankly that he would not attempt to prove Murphy insane.

Many of the lawyers believe that the judges will demand that Murphy be brought on here to testify in person before they make a decision. By this procedure the gunman can be subjected to cross-examination at the hands of the assistant district-attorney.

Major Walsh and Judge Connolly want Murphy brought on here, the only one who can so summon him is the district-attorney.

NEWTON THEOLOGICAL BACCALAUREATE SUNDAY

Commencement week at Newton Theological Institution opens on Sunday with a baccalaureate sermon at the First Baptist Meeting House by President George E. Horr. Commencement Day is on Thursday, with graduation exercises at the First Baptist Meeting House at 10 a. m., when members of the class and Professor Richard M. Vaughan will speak, a trustees' dinner in Bray Hall at 2 and a reception at the home of President and Mrs. Horr at 4. Exercises and examinations will take place on the intervening days, with Wednesday as Alumni Day.

BENEDICTINE DIRECTORS CONVENE IN MANCHESTER

Manchester, N. H., June 4—St. Anselm's College in this city has been named as the convention place of the abbots and directors of the Benedictine colleges of the country. The convention will be held at the close of the annual retreat late in June.

TENEMENT SHORTAGE HITS HYDE PARK PLANTS

A shortage of tenements in Hyde Park has brought about a serious curtailment in two large industrial plants there. Those two factories are several hundred workers short because of lack of housing facilities.

WORCESTER LABOR MEN FAVOR CITY GAS PLANT

Worcester, June 4—Worcester's Central Labor Union has unanimously indorsed the order adopted by the City Council providing for a commission to study the advisability of the purchase, lease or construction of a municipal gas plant.

Landlord Grabs for Clerk's Raise

A clerk in the Chelsea Postoffice will find that his small salary increase is unlikely to do him much good. After it was announced that the postal employes were to be granted an increase his landlord called on the clerk and said: "I see that you are to get a raise of $10 a week," to which the clerk replied: "No, the increase is about $2 a week net."

"Well," said the landlord, "the rest of your fat will be $35 a month after July 1."

The clerk is now paying $25 a month. He is married and has four children.

He told the landlord that he could not pay the increase, as the latter produced a typewritten notice for the clerk to vacate.

URGES PARTIES ADOPT FREE IRELAND PLANKS

A letter has been sent to every delegate and alternate elected to the Democratic and Republican conventions from the Boston branch of the American Commission on Irish Freedom asking them to vote for the embodiment in their declaration of party principles the right of the people of Ireland to establish a free and independent nation in accordance with the principles for which 50,000 American soldiers died in the World War. The statement is signed by John F. Harrigan as chairman of a large committee.

EXETER IS FAVORITE OVER ANDOVER

STARS READY FOR CONTESTS

Spirited Battle for Honors Is Expected in Clash Between Rivals

By TOM POWER.

Exeter Academy and Andover meet tomorrow at Exeter in their 59th annual track meet. Exeter is a great favorite, having defeated the Blue team by only six points in the Harvard Interscholastic meet at the Stadium last week, but the fast track Worcester Academy put down as an indoor sports would suggest that the Blue will be the real favorite when they are tested in open air.

Not since 1909 has the Andover team won this meet. Seven years ago Andover tied at forty-eight points each with Exeter, but the intervening meetings have been leaving in favor of the Exeter athletes.

Andover and Exeter have met twenty-four times and of these meetings Exeter has won fourteen, Andover nine and they have tied once.

Judging by past performances, Exeter should take first places in at least eight of the twelve events. Fred Waterman of Exeter is easily the best all-round athlete on the field, and should be able to win the 100-yard dash, the 220-yard dash and the broad jump. W. Chipman of Exeter is the favorite in the quarter mile run as is A. F. Jones of Exeter in the half and mile. H. H. Lloyd, weight of the Andover team, throw and the shot-put at the Harvard meet last week, and the only record breaker, is expected to set up new marks in both these events and in addition should be a point winner in the 120-yard hurdles for Exeter. R. Luman is apt to also stand high in the pole vault for Exeter, while Jump T. P. Richardson of Andover is only one inch lower than he in their last meeting, so the chances for a reversal here are large.

M. C. Cheney, Bekeken, F. M. Avery and W. C. Lewis are the possible first place winner for Andover. The broad jump, pole vault, and the high and low hurdles are their events respectively.

SPEED BATTLE FOR BIKERS

Wiley and Madonna to Race Vanderstuyft at New Beach Oval

Wiley and Madonna are going to match their speed against Vanderstuyft, the Belgian star, at the Revere Beach track tomorrow evening over the [illegible] course and if everything goes as per schedule the fans are going to see some race.

Another special and sort of revenge event will be run off for paced race between Brill, Hill and Frank Keeler and this will also prove a hard fought event.

Clarence Carman, another beach favorite who is now cleaning up on all the tracks in Europe, is homeward bound and is due to arrive here on Saturday. He will make his first visit to the new beach. Leon Didier, who is as well known here, will also come over early in July.

YACHT TRIALS CALLED OFF

Resolute Unable to Meet Vanitie Owing to Accident in First Race

By CHARLES E. PARKER.

Newport, R. I., June 4—The second race of the Resolute and Vanitie has been postponed [illegible] at 11 o'clock.

The future of the new gaff for the Resolute to arrive this morning caused the postponement of the race [illegible] at 11 o'clock. Captain Nat Herreshoff was [illegible] professional sailing [illegible] for the Herreshoff yards at Bristol, R. I., where permanent repairs will be made to fit the sloop for tomorrow's elimination contest. J. M. McDonough, acting chairman of the race committee, gave out official announcement shortly after the sailing that the race scheduled for today will be started over a triangular course tomorrow.

There was much regret that the Vanitie were unable to take advantage of the existing conditions [illegible] for [illegible] A [illegible] wind continued [illegible] and [illegible] would have given [illegible] performance of the Vanitie [illegible]

K. O. CHARLEY MILLER MEETS NELSON TONIGHT

By JACK CONWAY.

K. O. Charley Miller of the South End will make an effort to put the A. C. for ght. As both men are ag wide under Brockton hitting New ...gressive and can punch it looks as ...en when he meets that worthy ... though the fans are in for a ...ing evening of sport.

Miller is one of our local kayo kings. He has a list of knock-outs to his credit which make Young Mahoney, Young Kloby and some of our other self-confessed knock-em-dead boys look like bush leaguers. Among other things Miller once stopped three opponents in a week. ... not the kind of a fighter who leaves the count very much. He ... forcing the issue every minute he ... in the ring and does not seem to ... very much when things go against him. Both right-hand punches to the jaw ...

A winner of tonight's feature will be in a position to demand matches with the leading welterweights in this section of the country. Johnny Ford of East Boston and Kenneth Lawton of Lawrence will meet in a ... semi-final of eight rounds. ... Jackson and Joe ... Harry Loring of Charlestown ...

Siegal Looks for Win Over Shevlin

Nate Siegel, Beachmont welterweight is at Diamond Hill, R. I., training for his twelve-round bout with Eddie Shevlin of Roxbury which will be staged at Mechanics Building next Tuesday night under the direction of the Armory A. A. Paddy Flynn of Everett, South Boston Johnny Downes and several other fast-steppers are at the same camp, and as Siegal has plenty of classy performers to work out with Siegal believes he will win over Shevlin, in which event he will make an effort to land a bout with Young Kloby. Just now the Beachmont boxer is ... as well as any welterweight in the East as he recently ... and it required a decision over ... Boston ... eager to prove he is a better performer than Shevlin, who in their rivals last met, honors were even.

Shevlin has been doing his training at a Roxbury gymnasium and is not the least bit bashful in stating that he will finish in front Tuesday night.

Kloby Is Suffering from Poison Ivy

Young Kloby is ... suffering from ... which ... hands the proposed ... between the Lawrence ... and Jack Britton a kayo for the time being, at least. Information from Lawrence is to the effect that Kloby has not any scruples about meeting the world's welterweight champion. He apparently believes he can get more money for permitting himself to be a punching bag for Britton than he could pick up by meeting some body whom he would have a chance ... beating.

We don't think Kloby is so unwise as to believe that Ian Morgan would consent to such an agreement as pitted the Fitzsimmons-Kloby bout. Fitzsimmons is a great fighter, but he couldn't get any matches last summer. Bo Morgan was willing to use his southpaw for a tussle with Kloby on any terms. These terms were ... for Fitzsimmons to deliberately ... his opponent ... ten rounds ... bouts ... throughout the country and so would ... without ... famous Andy ... opposing Kloby in an up and up tussle. ... said he a mere workout for Britton, who is one of the greatest fighters in the game has known. Morgan knows this. So does Britton, while Kloby will admit that these two gentlemen are well versed in the affairs of the ring if he is so unwise to meet the boss of the welterweights.

"Champ" McAdams to Meet Carpentier

Georges Carpentier, French heavyweight champion and the next opponent for Jack Dempsey, didn't realize what a risk he took when he agreed to come to Boston with the Sells-Floto Circus. Be it known there is a young man by the name of "Champ" McAdams who lives in Allston who intends to plant a perfectly good kayo wallop on the artistic chin of Carpentier.

McAdams has been training for the last month with the hope of getting a bout with one of the leading heavyweights in this sector of the land of the brave. Somebody then informed the Allston boxer that Georges Carpentier was in our midst. 'Twas natural that he should desire to dispose of the Frenchman.

Weather permitting, McAdams says he will taxi to the circus grounds today and tomorrow and have one of those face to face talks with the Frenchman.

BRAVES ON THE TOBOGGAN, START NEW FLIGHT TO THE TOP

NEW HOPE IN GAME TODAY

Stallings and His Band Badly Crippled for Twirlers in Twin Bill

By NICK FLATLEY.

Life without a double-header is very welcome to the Braves right now, pitches being at such a premium. Wherefore this was a bright day in the tribal life. There was only a single game on with the Giants. There isn't another double program on until tomorrow.

Stallings has several of his fingers just on the edge of condition, and a day or so may bring them along, super alla. The heat remains present. The sun has baked the field into lighting hat shape, and without good twirling a lot of valuable infielders are apt to be torpedoed.

Home-runs r getting to be a national habit as reached the wigwam, and du. swats of the kind made famous by Minister Ruth promise to furnish thrills quite frequently.

There's plenty of space in the Brave orchard, and now that the sod has been properly dried, the ball solidly hit will run a mile.

Looks like a year when the fan can repeat with Omar Khayyam or someone, "Count the day dead whose low descending sun sees ball game played with nary a home run."

Fillingim May Get Chance to Work Today

Which reminds us that Dana Fillingim was billed to try to put the Giants back in their places this afternoon, if he felt curvishly inclined.

Otherwise Eddie Favre or Joe Oescher will needs be called on.

The investors, after having the unusual experience of watching two of their heavers go through games, are likely to be quite optimistic and go out with Babe Benton or Douglas to clean up.

But it's the Braves' turn today, according to the w. k. law of, averages. Dropping a pair to the Giants was to suspected as a pastime.

The Braves can make this series even by winning today and then fight for the verdict in tomorrow's double bill. After getting two lopsided lickings, they are in a fighting mood.

VINCENT MARTIN WINS FROM HARRY CARLSON

Vincent Martin of Cambridge won from Harry Carlson of Brockton in the main bout of 12 rounds at the Quincy Colseum. Fred Webb of Weymouth was given the edge over Mike Malia of South Boston in eight rounds. Tommy Nee of South Boston beat John Geagea of Brockton and Tommy Julian of Brockton won from Billy Shane of Weymouth. Both bouts went six rounds.

FOUR LEFT IN JACKSON TENNIS TOURNAMENT

The tennis champion tourney at Jackson College has narrowed down to four. The summary:

Carolyn Brainard, '22, beat Elizabeth Beattie '22, 6—2, 6—1.

Rosalie Cobb '22, beat Gladys Bryant, '22, 6—2 6—1.

Marion Pierce, '20, beat Dorothy Rourke, '22, 5—7 3 6 6—2.

Madalaide Storms, '22, beat Catherine Smith, '22, 6—2, 6—0.

ALGER AND BUTLER IN BOUT AT SOMERVILLE

George Alger, Cambridge welterweight, and Walter Butler of Beachmont will clash in the feature bout of twelve rounds at the Union square club of somerville Monday night. These men are old rivals and should furnish a spirited battle. Tommy Marks of the North End and K. O. Charley Elkins of the South End will meet in the semi-final of eight frames. There will also be two more

PENNOCK IN BOX TO HALT GRIFFS

Russell's Good Pitching Went for Naught Against Senators Behind Johnson

Washington, June 4.—In an effort to even up the series with the Senators Manager Ed Barrow sent Herbie Pennock, the only Red Sox pitcher to win since the series with the Eastern teams was resumed, to the mound today. Griff's choice was Eric Erickson, who has been resting up since his disastrous defeat by the Yankees last week.

Mike Menosky caught cold in his shoulder, coming down here on the train, and had to stay out of the opening contest, causing a shift in the Boston outfield that undoubtedly resulted in the Griffmen winning. With Harry Hooper in right, Harris' triple would have been an out, as Wallis Schang, after a great try, came within a foot of nabbing the fly. Hooper has a little bit more than that on Wally, and it would have been enough to have saved the game. But that is the luck of the game, and the break went to the Senators. Menosky will be back in the game in a couple of days at the outside.

Russell certainly deserved to win the opener as he pitched brilliant ball, especially with a runner on two on the sacks. He had been nicked but six times in the seven innings and then came three in a row, with Harris' triple, undoing all his good work.

Unfortunately for the Red Sox Walter Johnson batted in with one of his good games, and with perfect fielding would not have been scored on. When Ellerbe let McInnis' grounder go between his legs with two down and Hooper on second, Harry dashed home with the only Red Sox run, and for eight innings this lonesome tally looked awfully big.

When a Girl Marries

Interesting Story of the Trials and Jealousies of a Bride

By Ann Lisle

"YES," as I said, I am a delegate. Jumbling for words and blushing at my praise. That will always need a woman back of him. He's a dear—but he can't stand entirely alone. That act of a man's is right for a man, but I couldn't moon over one of them. We can if he's anywhere on earth, in the way of cheap wood spirits, as if that was the way to the White House, or walk to Mexico on the stumps of his legs if the rest of him was shot away and he had a big motive for making the trip. And if ever I find him, Anne, nothing's going to stop me. Not even if he asks me to wear white organdie with blue snakes and leghorn hats with pink roses. Only he won't. Not my man. He'll understand."

There was loneliness and pathos in Carlotta's voice. Yearning, too. It made me forget my joy at finding she'd never suffered on Pat's account.

"And you've never seen him," I said pityingly. "If ever you do, Carlotta S., may I be there to help? But you've never seen him?"

"Haven't I?" asked Carlotta suddenly. "Oh—but I have. Only he's never seen me as he could notice it. And there's another woman who may need him some day. So I guess I'll stick to real estate—and good pals. And if you are a pal, Anne, you'll let me keep this secret."

"I'll let you," I cried. "You brick! But I wish I could help you—you brick!

As I called her that, I remembered I had heard that epithet applied to her twice before—by Terry Winston and by Anthony Norreys.

Signed Check

When Carlotta and I were ready to go our individual ways at the end of our lunch I demanded the check and signed it with a pleasurable flourish. Gone was the sordid days when I had always to let the other girl pay the check, and also gone and departed are the days when I had to pay everything from my supply of cash on hand. Now I have charge in several of the hotels and all the smart shops. Jim and I both feel that it gives us a certain solidity and dignity to have credit in the big places.

Then I hurried over to the shoe store and had a perfect orgy of buying. I've always loved being well shod, and I felt it was wise to lay in a big supply of pretty shoes at the sale. So I got gray suede oxfords, a pair of pretty brown pumps, some white sport shoes and two pairs of dancing slippers, one black satin and one pair of white brocade.

"Now you ought to have some patent leather pumps with big cut-steel buckles," suggested the clerk.

"Are they great bargains?" I asked, dallying with temptation.

"I should say so. They'll be fifty per cent. higher within six months," said the clerk so convincingly that I felt it wise to get the patent leathers.

When it came to buckles, I hesitated for a moment or two.

But then—just as I felt one hand on the cash, seeing my hesitancy.

So I felt I had a right to indulge. And when he suggested stockings I said I had them, but might as well get them here to make sure of having the right mesh for the colored shoes.

An Obliging Clerk

"Now, the name and address, please," smiled the clerk pleasantly when I had selected several pairs of stockings.

I gave it to him and opened my purse to pay.

"One hundred and twenty dollars, please," said the man.

I almost tumbled off the bench.

"But, I thought you advertised as 'a dime at $1.98 a pair,'" I protested as quietly as I could.

"But I haven't been showing you sale shoes," said the clerk. "You wouldn't care for them. And, besides, they come in the wider sizes. I couldn't fit you. These are excellent values you have selected and very reasonable, too. Nothing over sixteen dollars. Really, to get any sort of slippers, buckles and hosiery at such a small figure is like having a little bargain sale of your own when you consider how much higher things are going."

I laughed, trying to pretend I was at ease.

"We've no account here," I confessed.

"Why not open one? Let me call the floor manager. I'm sure he will be delighted to take care of you, Mrs. Harrison," said the clerk, blandly referring to the slip on which he had just written my name and address.

Then he went darting off to carry out his idea. It seemed a wise one. I had bought nothing I wouldn't need within the next year, and it certainly would be silly to waste the time I had spent in trying on and selecting the shoes.

So when the floor manager came with his little book and asked for my husband's address and bank I was well pleased with the afternoon's work.

"Now, madame, will you give me two or three names of those you already have charge accounts?"

"Wickhams," I said carelessly, sure if the clerk knew he would produce. Then I added a string of shops and ended with the smartest of hotels where we were in the habit of running checks.

"The Harrisons," I said to myself proudly, "as on their way back to the position that belongs to them—and I am a Harrison."

Then, as I strutted up the avenue to get my little car and call for Jim, a voice hailed me—faintly at first, then loudly, jovially, insistently.

"Barbara Anne—Barbara Anne Lee, Barbara Anne Lee!" it called. And riding up to me in great delight came Carl Richards.

Trying It On

DRAWN BY C. D. BATCHELOR

The Young Diana

By Marie Corelli

EPILOQUE—CONCLUDED

Copyright, 1918, by Marie Corelli.

He caught her hands suddenly.

"Love is in all elements," he said. "There would be no world, no universe without love"

Her eyes met his as steadily as stars.

"There is no such thing as Love in all mankind," she said. "The race is cruel, destructive, murderous. What men call love is merely sex attraction—such as is common to all the animal world. Children are to be born in order that man may be perpetuated. Why, one cannot imagine! His civilizations perish—he himself is the merest grain of dust in the universe—unless he learns to subdue his passions and progresses to a higher order of being on this earth, which he never will. All things truly are possible, save man's own voluntary uplifting. And without this uplifting there is no such thing as Love"

Not Really Young

He still held her hands

"May I not endeavor to reach this height?" he asked, and his voice shook a little. "Have patience with me, Diana! You have beauty, wealth, youth——"

She interrupted him.

"You forget; Nature years are in my brain and heart—I am not really young"

"You are," he rejoined; "younger than you can as yet realize. You are your own quintessential experience, but you have had no time yet to test your inward emotions——"

"I have none" she said.

He dropped her hands.

"Not even an angel's attribute—mercy?"

A faint sigh stirred her bosom where the great Eye of Rajuna shone like a red star.

"Perhaps," she said—"I do not know—it may be possible"

* * * * *

Today in Paris one of the loveliest women in the world holds undisputed sway as a reigning beauty. The "old" now the "young" Diana is the envy of her sex and the despair of men. Years pass over her and leave no trace on the fair face of radiant eyes—a creature of light and magnificence she lives for the most part the life of a student and recluse and any entertaining of society in her house is rare. But she has the power of learning and science who were friends of Professor Chauvet are always welcomed by their adorable hostess, who to them has become a centre of something like worship.

Untouched by Flattery

As far as she herself is concerned, she is untouched by either admiration or flattery. Each day finds her further removed from the temporary joys and sorrows of humanity, and more outwardly in a strange world of abstract importance to which she seems to belong. She is busy because she has forgotten all that would make her leisure. She is [illegible] now the world, as mother [illegible] with [illegible] knowing that she has [illegible] experiments continuously on him, and that in the mysterious force wherewith he is encompassed indeed her, she is quite [illegible]

His name [illegible] lessons day by day, rendering him ready to contend with whatever conquered he had himself created. The Marchese Farnese, catching a passing glimpse of her in Paris, became so filled with amusement that he spread all sorts of rumors respecting her real "age" and the "magic art" of Dimitrius, none of which were believed, of course, but which added to the mystery surrounding her—though she herself never condescended to notice them. To this day she holds herself apart and invisible to all save those whom she personally chooses to receive. No man can boast of any favor at her hands—not even Dimitrius

And—as was said at the beginning of this voracious narrative

there is no end for Diana May She lives as the light lives—fair and emotionless—as all may live who master the secret of living—a secret which, though now apparently impregnable, shall yield itself to those, who, before very long, will grasp the Flaming Sword and "take and eat of the fruit of the Tree of Life." The Sword turns every day—but the blossom is behind the blade

And in this Great Effort neither the love of man nor the love of woman have any part, nor any propagation of an imperfect race—for those who would reach the goal must relinquish all save the realization of that "new heaven and new earth" of splendid and lasting youth and vigor when "old things are passed away."

THE END.

Mrs. Solomon Says—

By HELEN ROWLAND

Copyright, 1920, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.

HEAR now, my Daughter, these Polite Proverbs for Damsels, which are from Mrs. Solomon's.

Lo, in the daily communion of Matrimony, a cheerful disposition is more to be desired than blond hair, and a sense of humor more comforting than a Scotch conscience.

But a little artistic temperament is a terrible thing!

Think not to KNOW a man before marriage. For courtship is only the "prospectus" of matrimony, and resembleth it no more than the advertisement resembleth the Summer resort.

And how shall they know any man, until thou hast shared his breakfast, his troubles, and his newspaper—and gone through the pockets of his fishing clothes?

Wit attracteth the ear and a bright hat the eye—but a damsel who can hold her TONGUE and look inscrutable can hold any man!

When other women pursue a man, be not tempted, but stand discreetly aside. And, behold, when he is "backing away" from his pursuers, he shall, peradventure, back into THINE arms—for consolation.

Yearn not for a man who "understandeth" thee. For when a man hath learned to understand women, they are all as yesterday's newspapers—and he still seeketh for one whom he CANNOT understand!

Seek not to bind a man with promises. For a promise turneth a kiss from a pleasure into a duty, and a lie from a luxury into a necessity.

When a man praiseth "rational dress for women," hearken sweetly and let him rave. But be not moved

Go to, my Daughter! As one that seeketh a job in an artificial-flower factory, because she understandeth botany, so is a damsel who goes into marriage with only her own theories and a cooking school diploma.

But a Wise Virgin delighteth in instruction and keepeth my precepts.

Spending at Times Silly

By Beatrice Fairfax

THIS morning I saw a girl wearing a modestly cut blue serge dress—evidently last year's. Her hat was a plain blue straw affair, trimmed with field flowers which had last just enough of their crisp freshness to suggest that they, too, were last years. Her plain brown oxfords gave a glimpse of stockings below her rather long (evidently last year's) skirt

And those stockings were lisle

That was to be set off in a paragraph all by itself, for it is as unusual as silk stockings used to be for the girl of modest means and nature

This simply, unextravagantly dressed girl didn't look tawdry or cheap or common or any of the things girls seem to think they might be if they don't spend every cent of their earnings in the mad rush to "keep up to date" or up to the standard of rich girls. She seemed what she was—a modest, sensible, simple girl calmly wearing the clothes she could afford and not struggling to splurge out in garments beyond her means

Pioneer in Good Cause

There wasn't a bit of rouge on her creamy cheeks. Her mouth was clean and coral as nature seems to have thought it wise to make mouths. There wasn't a carmine or a cherry-colored splash where soft lips are supposed to be

And the sweet, modest little girl struck me as a pioneer in a movement which hasn't (alas!) much chance to become popular. It might if it were not for the sheep-instinct which keeps so many girls from daring to be themselves or anything in the least different from the pattern according to which everyone they know happens to be cut

A large part of the stupid old high cost of living comes from the fact that everyone insists on living on the scale which would just fit the fellow next more above him in the social scale

If the girl who is earning thirty dollars a week insists on wearing the four-dollars-a-pair silk stockings which the girl who earns fifty can afford, how under the sun is the hundred-dollar-a-week girl, who can afford 'em, but who has sense enough (witness her earning capacity) not to want to pay such prices, going to do anything about it.

Maybe she will be brave enough to come down to business dressed more simply than the girl who is working for her. But that's a lot to hope

Feminine vanity, plus masculine desire to show off its success by garbing its female nitty like unto the toll-not-neither-do-they-spin lilies, does a lot to boost the prices of the things we don't need, but have to have

Why Not Make Over?

I'm not insisting on blue denim and calico, because once we make a fad of anything the law of supply and demand gets busy with it and forces up the price of the once obscure, but very all-desired, article. But why not make over old clothes? Why not have shoes resoled even if they have the fault of not being up on the last of the moment?

Why pay two dollars and a half for a portion of a rack of lamb in a smart restaurant when just around the street from it there is one not quite so "smart" where the same food can be bought for ninety cents a portion?

What's the use of all this show and blow? We're all living on the edge of dangerous and crumbling bluffs, and we all know it. So none of us fools any other one of us.

Why not, then, be as practical as a squirrel tread-milling its cage or a kitten chasing its tail. Extravagance gets us nowhere—except perhaps to the poorhouse. And who wants to pay up for a youth of silk stockings with an old age of eating bread on the street?

ABOUT OUR GOOD FRIEND

Olsen

Copyright, 1920, by The Ledger Syndicate.

OLSEN

VARIATION—Oleson.

RACIAL ORIGIN—Scandinavian.

SOURCE—A given name.

OLSEN as a family name is simply a shortened form of Olafsen. It has no connection whatever with the name Oldson, often found in England and less frequently in the United States.

Olsen, like virtually every name to be found in this country ending in "sen," is Scandinavian. Notwithstanding the fact that "son" has exactly the same meaning as the termination "son" in English names, and indicates exactly the same kind of origin for the name, the English "son" has never been misspelled into "sen."

At no period has there been a tendency of English spelling in that direction, though there have been radical changes in other directions

Oldson might conceivably become Olson, but never Olsen, unless the family bearing it should have moved from England to one of the Scandinavian countries at some period

Olaf, as a given name, was widely used among the old Swedes and Norwegians of the viking days. It was a native name, compounded from Scandinavian names meaning "ancestor" and "relic," and the name means "ancestor's relic." It became a Christian name when the Far North was Christianized and is found in Latin writings subsequent to that period as "Olavus." There was a Saint Olaf in Sweden.

Tomorrow—Fairbanks.

FRECKLES

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles as Othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from any druggist and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckling has begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom more than an ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful, clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine as this is the only one guaranteed to money back if it fails to remove the freckles.

Like Cinderella

"A butter substitute used to be [illegible] Butter-Nut spread," a housekeeper could be bothered with her." Mrs. Housewife confided to her grocer, one day

"That was before the time of Spreadit," the grocer volunteered

"Now," replied Mrs. Housewife, brightly, "I have a really good nut butter to rely on—Spreadit is like Cinderella, who was transformed from the plain maid in rags to the beautiful princess."

"That pleased the grocer, "Spreadit is made from the best nut oils and the purest milk. That is why it is so good"

And housewives one, also, finished the housekeeper

"Ask your grocer for Spreadit," Mrs. Housewife

The Distinctive Peanut Butter

As I have before remarked I like [illegible] know my food is prepared for me. I like to know that the things I buy are [illegible] as scientifically prepared as the foods that I cook in my kitchen. That was why, one day, I visited the factory of A. A. Forster's where I saw the whole process of making Forster's, starting from the raw peanuts. In the great bags, to the packing of the nice clean pails with the delicious peanut butter. I marvelled at the cleanliness of Forster's method I have never since marvelled at the uniformity of Forster's. For I then had explained why one pail of Forster's is exactly like another—always excellent

Creamed on Toast

This is way I prepare Gorton's Boneless Codfish. Take the required amount of nice fish and boil just a few minutes. I am careful not to let it boil enough to get tough. Next I prepare a thick white sauce with celery flavor and add to the flakes of fish. I toast a golden brown some moderately thick slices of bread, and arrange on a pretty platter. Then I pour the codfish in the white sauce over the toast and garnish with sprigs and wedges of lemon. This is a tempting luncheon dish when made from Gorton's Boneless Codfish.

You should ask your grocer for it today. After using Gorton's particularly the "Ready to Fry" Fish Cakes, you will use no other.

Don't Hesitate

Many housewives hesitate about a powdered soap, until they have tried Gold Dust. Then they find out there is no soap so economical as it. The purposes are worth asking these days of H. C. L. And thousand Hundred Soaps help save the pennies. Ask your grocer for Gold Dust a just once and you will be converted

An Old-Fashioned Pastime

I remember so well as a child how I enjoyed an old-fashioned candy pull

My children never used to have this fun, till I discovered Uncle Johns Syrup. That afternoon I decided that the children should have an old-fashioned party. So I gave them two cups of Uncle John's Syrup and showed them how to boil it and drop it in pure white snow till it hardened in little balls. We had a merry candy party, and we all became disciples of Uncle John.

Just ask your grocer for Uncle John's, a syrup part maple, part cane sugar

The Two Kinds

There are two kinds of Drake's Cake that Jane and I have a way of ordering together. They are the light and the dark fruit cakes. Now about those fruit cakes. I adore dark fruit cake—when it's Drake's. I love the rich moistness of them, the raisins and the currants, and the really tasted orange juice. I always have that, when I wish fruit cake for tea. But I cannot give this to the younger children. It is just a little too rich for them. Therefore, I order the light Drake's Fruit Cake, too. For the light cake has plenty of fruit and was made for the children. Your grocer keeps Drake's Cake—just ask him

The Guarantee Protects You

"If you are not thoroughly convinced that DAVIS WINTER FLOUR has produced the best bread you ever baked after you have used an entire sack of it, return the empty sack to the dealer, leave your name with him, and the purchase price will be refunded and cheerfully to us."—EAGLE ROLLER MILL CO

Like Using Your Head

I have learned, in the years that Jane and I have been going to market, that there's nothing like using your head. Economy and cooking—they need brains. All you can mean, when you [illegible] think of Plymouth Rock Coffee Jelly Compound

The old way to make gelatine was to boil the coffee. It took much time. But now my dear, as Jane and I have found out, it is so very simple to get the Plymouth Rock Gelatine. All you have to do is add the sugar and hot tow water. Have a jar of cream ready for a sauce and you have an excellent dessert. Your dealer keeps Plymouth Rock Gelatine.

Bread Pudding

This is a bread pudding recipe that Jane and I have very much the liking. Husbands are fond of bread pudding as a high quality sweet. Here is the way we make it. We take two cups of bread crumbs made of Highland Bread, crisped and rolled till they are almost flour. To the mix those we add a bread crumbs with a cup of milk, three eggs, sugar to sweeten, a teaspoonful of vanilla, and two squares of unsweetened chocolate. We bake in a smart oven till gently cooked. Then we add rather whipped cream or a soft custard for sauce. This Highland bread pudding is an excellent dessert for the school girl's lunch box. Because in a good bread are all the elements of nutrition.

Curry Sauce

It really is not quite chubby, telling you about the nice sauce Jane and I make up in Uncle's Curry Powder, and then not giving you the recipe. We have it right here. Slightly browned 1 rounded tablespoonful of butter and 1 tablespoonful onion; add ¼ teaspoon Uncle's Curry Powder, ½ teaspoon salt; dash of Uncle's pepper and celery salt and 2 heaping tablespoon of flour. When smooth add one cup of milk, cook until thickened and add stock to desired consistency.

This delicious sauce is wonderful with rice, also. With all food a bit unsavoury Uncle's Curry Powder, in a sauce, adds the dash of mystery to stimulate even the most unctuous appetite

In the Blend

We have our coffee parties, the ladies of my office and I. And I always make the coffee. Mrs. Howard, the oldest girl, asked for my recipe. "Why, said I, "just the same recipe all your ladies use. Only I never deviate from Whitehouse Coffee. For it is put together just right. There's so much, you know, in the blend"

The Kind for the Youngster

That's Hood's Grade A. milk. There is quite a story to this Hood product. It is milk from carefully selected dairies, having high grade inbred herds. While it makes no absolutely sterile, is devoted solely to the pasteurization and bottling of Hood's Grad A Milk. And, this is what has always appealed to me and my husband in selecting our youngsters' milk. A thorough medical examination is given to every employe who works in the Grade A milk rooms. The milk is pasteurized by heating and holding at a temperature of 145 degrees for thirty minutes; which is only part of the Grade A story.

BRITISH DIVORCE SUITS MOUNT

Heaviest List in History of Courts Scheduled for Trial

London, June 1.—The heaviest list of divorce suit cases in the history of the British law courts is scheduled for trial soon.

There is a total of 1,333 cases to be heard, which is 800 more than in 1913 and over 800 in excess of 1914. There are also a number of "part heard" cases from the last term and a lot in the reserve list; so that altogether 1,755 suits will have to be considered by His Majesty's judges.

One of the most interesting suits—interesting, that is, in view of the standing of the parties—is that of Lady K. de V. Somerset, who is petitioning for a divorce against Captain H. C. S. A. Somerset. Miss Madeline Seymour, one of England's famous actresses, is presenting an undefended suit against her husband, Gerald Reid-Kellett, to whom she was married in 1914. Mrs. Sherwood-Kelly, the wife of Colonel John Sherwood-Kelly, V. C., who was also married in 1914, petitions for a divorce, and among the "left-overs" from the last session are the suits of Viscountess E. Torrington, Lady V. H. Williams and Lady C. R. Cholmondeley, who are all continuing actions against their husbands.

STOCK APPORTIONMENT BY MIDDLE STATES OIL

It is announced by the Middle States Oil Corporation that the 50 per cent. stock apportionment recently declared will be paid July 19, 1920, to stockholders of record at the close of business June 14, 1920. The board of directors announces that a quarterly cash dividend of 4 per cent. on the capital stock will be paid July 1, 1920, to stockholders of record at the close of business June 10, 1920.

This is an increase of one-third over regular cash dividends paid heretofore. Production of the Middle States Oil Corporation and subsidiaries is now running at the rate of over 15,000 barrels daily, which makes the company one of the largest independent oil producers.

U. S. Coinage for May

During May, United States mints coined 32,741,500 pieces of money, amounting to $18,762,220. Coins minted were 713,000 gold double eagles, 125,500 eagles, 1,204,000 half dollars, 3,602,000 quarters, 13,220,000 dimes, 4,675,000 five-cent nickels, and 10,127,000 one-cent pieces. In addition, 54,950 bronze pieces of money were coined by government mints for Indo-China.

STEELS HIGHER, MOTORS GAIN

Oils Are Irregular, While Rails Are Lower as a Class During Forenoon

By W. H. ROSS.
Financial Editor.

Stocks were irregular in New York at noon, but the majority of the active issues had advanced and the market had a firm tone. Steels and motors were higher; oils were mixed as to changes and rails ruled lower, as they had all the morning.

The market was exceedingly quiet, first hour transactions totalling but about 80,000 shares. A New York dispatch says: "Outside of half a dozen issues, the market was almost at a standstill during the forenoon." Call loans renewed at 6 per cent. In the foreign exchange market, demand sterling was weak.

HAD AN IRREGULAR START.

The market had an irregular start as regards price movements, leading issues being about evenly balanced as to gains and losses or beginning unchanged. The price range was narrow, taking the list as a whole. Early trading was of small volume and distinguished by nothing calculated to excite interest. New York brokers received but few out-of-town orders. Interest on the part of the people seems entirely lacking. American Woolen common was weak at the outset, receding two points on a few sales. This stock showed the largest loss among active issues. Crucible advanced more than a point on its initial transaction, but almost all changes were fractional. Motors displayed a little group strength, while steels, oils and rails had a mixed movement. Within half an hour the market improved. International Paper was a strong and active specialty in the first hour. Liberty bonds were a trifle higher for awhile.

TRADERS FAVORING RAILS.

The professional trading element, whose operations constitute the market at present, are said to be shifting from industrials to rails. The latter have been accumulated by big financial interests for some time. It is believed on Wall Street that the public will be speculating in carriers on something approaching the old-time scale before long. The switchmen's strike brought out a point that some folks were quick to grasp. Industries depend upon railroads, and it does not matter so much what is paid for getting freight as long as merchants and manufacturers can get it delivered. Agitation against profits over-rides the poor policy for business interests.

AGAINST DRASTIC MEASURES.

There was no change in the money situation this morning. In connection with the belief in certain trade circles that Federal banking interests have sought to force price deflation through contraction of loans, the statement by Governor Harding that the Federal Reserve Board is opposed to the use of drastic or oppressive measures was read with a great deal of interest. Mr. Harding explained that the decision by bankers who were in conference at Washington recently to pursue the policy of reducing loans did not mean there is any intention to curtail indiscriminately.

Cotton Market Opening

New York, June 4.—The cotton market had a firm opening with first prices 25 to 32 points net higher. Reaction occurred after the start because of profit taking. It carried prices down about 20 points from the early high levels. Opening prices were: July, 38.75; August offered 36.90; October, 33.50; January, 34.80; February, offered 34.60; March, 34.20; April, offered 34.15.

New York Sub-Treasury Gain

New York, June 4.—The sub-treasury gained $525,000 from the banks on Thursday, reducing the cash net loss since Friday to $151,000.

Foreign Exchange

Germany lost the war and the after-war opportunities that invariably go to the victor. Imagine with what avidity Germany would have bought U. S. Liberty, New York, Boston and Chicago Municipal Bonds at 20 marks ($5.00), realizing that the dollar would inevitably return to par and the bonds be paid at maturity. America and her allies won the war, but we have been less eager, due to our unfamiliarity with foreign investment, to grasp the victor's opportunities. The recent advance of 2000% in German and Austrian Exchange indicates the eventual return to normal of the Mark and Krone. There is still a profit possibility of 700% in Marks and 2000% in Kronen. Bonds of the principal German and Austrian cities are paying their interest promptly, are worth par in these countries, and increase in dollar value as Exchange Rates improve.

DISCOUNT RATES UP IN BOSTON

Trading Dull on the Local Exchange; Curb Begins With a Heavy Tone

Irregular at the opening, there was no alteration to the Boston market during the morning. Trading was of very small volume and also without breadth. The price range was narrow as well. Comparatively few stocks "came out" during the first hour. For those that did price changes were trivial in the list. Among issues to show a little activity was Eastern Manufacturing. After receding a little it rallied and made a small gain. Greenfield Tap advanced a point and Agricultural Chemical lost one. Up to mid-morning all other fluctuations were fractional.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Boston has advanced its discount rates along the same lines as New York and Chicago. Its rediscounts on agricultural and livestock rediscounts has been raised from 6 per cent. to 7 per cent., on Liberty bonds and Victory notes from 5½ per cent. to 6 per cent., and on Treasury certificates from 5 per cent. to 5½ per cent. The new rates are effective today.

Fractional gains included American Telephone, United Shoe, U. S. Smelting and Eastern Steamship. Among issues to recede a little were Woolen preferred, New England Telephone, American Oil, Orpheum, Swift & Co. and Highland.

Ex-dividend stocks were Art Metals, Libby, Dominion Steel, Mergenthaler, Mackay Co. common and preferred, Calumet and Arizona and Calumet and Hecla. Libby also sold ex-rights.

DULL OPENING ON CURB.

The Curb market had a very dull and featureless opening and the tone at the start was heavy. Arizona Silver and Mutual Trust were the most active of the few issues to figure in early trading. Strong stocks at the start included Hecla, Mutual Trust and Simms Petroleum. There was some business in the latter issue. White Oil and Gilliland were the first time this week. Among weak ones were Seven Metals, White Oil and Submarine Boat.

At 11 o'clock Arizona Silver was up 3 cents at 87 cents, while Mutual Trust had receded 2 cents to 40 cents and Boston & Montana 1 cent to 72 cents.

NORTON FINANCIAL NOTES.

The May output of the Old Dominion smelter was 2,307,000 pounds compared with 2,564,000 pounds in April and 1919 monthly average.

Mutual Trust Corporation has declared a quarterly dividend of 2 per cent., and an extra of 2 per cent., payable July 1 to stock of record June 24.

Orpheum Circuit, Inc., directors meet in New York on Monday next for dividend action and are expected to maintain the $2 per share rate.

The Boston Stock Exchange has approved the listing on and after June 10 of 20,000 additional shares of Endicott-Johnson common stock par value $50, bringing the total amount authorized for the list to 327,800 shares.

Warren Motor has declared a quarterly dividend of 2 per cent., payable July 1 to stock of record June 20.

Lower Price for Copper

Leading selling agents are now asking 19 cents a pound for copper delivered up to the end of July, a reduction of ¼ cent from the quotation maintained for some time. The demand for metal is slack. Small selling interests are offering it at from 18¾ to 18¾ cents a pound for early delivery. Surplus stocks are still of such aggregate tonnage that producers have little hope of getting more than current rates for the balance of the year.

BRITAIN KNIFES HER ALLIES

Secret "Trade Pact" With Russia Protects India at Expense of European Nations

By Universal Service.

Washington, June 4.—Great Britain is knifing the interests of her Allies in Europe and is in secret touch with the Bolsheviki. Her object primarily is to stop the advance of the Bolsheviki upon her East Indian territories. The Russian-Anglo pact appears to be already effective.

This was revealed in an analysis of the European situation in diplomatic such close touch with affairs overseas that his statements may be accepted as authoritative.

WANTS RUSSIA'S GOLD.

In the light of his statement, the negotiations in London with the Soviet envoy, Krassin, became clear.

The subtlety of the British plan pervades around the policy of an "exchange of goods" with Russia. Inasmuch as Russia has no wheat, linen, or other products to exchange, the English plan is patently one of selling English goods to Russia for Russian gold, which, as it has been repeatedly pointed out, does not belong exclusively to Russia.

It was shown today that the plan of exchange is all to the benefit of Great Britain's trade. France is up in arms, diplomatically, against the new strange alliance. Her protest is based on the meritorious position that Russia's debt to France is greater than that to probably all the other nations combined, and no reservations are set forth in the plan of Great Britain to indemnify French investors.

MONOPOLY IN BLACK SEA.

An Anglo-Russian entente, commercially, means also, it was shown, that under the circumstances the British merchant marine would control the Black Sea Russian ports against Italy, Greece and all neutrals.

It is now capable of proof that Great Britain, while opposing communications diplomatically by other nations with Russia, was a party to the peace between Esthonia and Russia, whereby Russia got a valuable port at Reval. It is also an almost inevitable conclusion from the performances of the British Cabinet with Russia that the British foreign office will use its whole influence to force Finland to make peace with Russia and thereby open more ports for an "exchange of goods" in the furtherance of the plan now practically agreed on between Great Britain and Russia.

RECOGNITION OF SOVIET.

It is said to be certain that the trade relations now proposed and possibly in effect with Russia are virtually predicated on the recognition of the Soviet government by Great Britain. It is asserted here on authority that trade relations between these two countries could not be otherwise established.

The whole motive of the policy of the British government is stated to be:

First—To stop the military movements of the Bolsheviki armies toward India, where they are now bound after overrunning Armenia. The success of the Bolsheviki, which Great Britain apparently could not prevent, would mean an upset of the British-Turkish treaty.

Second—To be in a position to control the Russian markets when they are of value, and in the meanwhile accept Russian money for the so-called exchange of goods, which is termed an "absurdity." Russia has none to offer in exchange.

U. S. IS POWERLESS.

The United States, even if it were a member of the League of Nations, has no power to resist or to checkmate the British-Russian alliance.

Great Britain is, however, accelerating to governmental trade bodies here, reckoning without her host. These bodies and merchants throughout the United States know that the commercial plan of Great Britain to furnish rolling stock and all other kinds of machinery which Russia must have under the exchange of goods plan, takes for granted that the British trade will exploit the American market for that purpose.

It may be stated that the situation has been discussed, and that the United States will not "fall for" the scheme.

EDITORIAL PAGE OF THE BOSTON AMERICAN Largest Evening Circulation in New England JUNE 4, 1920 BOSTON

MEASURES THAT WOULD CURE MOST OF THE TROUBLES AND TENDENCIES WHICH DISTRESS AND ALARM US TODAY

(1) To nominate for the Presidency by direct nomination and to elect by popular vote.
(2) To elect the Cabinet officers and make them responsible to Congress.
(3) To deprive the President of the power of patronage; to put all public offices as nearly as possible under Civil Service, and have appointments made by a committee of Congress.
(4) To elect Federal Judges, including the Supreme Court Justices, by popular vote.
(5) To apply the Initiative, the Referendum and the Recall to national matters.

American Appreciates Work of Legislature in Rent Profiteering Fight

In bringing to an end the successful campaign of the Boston American Tenants' League for protective legislation for the rent payers and fair landlords of the Commonwealth, the Boston American wishes to pay a tribute to the good common sense of the present General Court.

Although the five rent bills substituted by the Joint Committee on Judiciary for the original comprehensive bill drawn by Representative Martin Hays are by no means as drastic as the provisions of that bill, nevertheless they give to the Commission on the Necessaries of Life and the local rent committees very powerful weapons against extortion in rentals.

In passing these measures the members of both branches of the Legislature echoed the desires of the people at large, and even though in practice the new laws may not meet with universal approval they will unquestionably be productive of much good. Like other human devised laws they are not perfect; they will not please everyone. But what law does? It must suffice that the General Court has heard the appeal of the rent payers, and has answered that call as its conscience dictated.

The enactment of these five bills puts the future of the rent problem in the hands of the courts and the rent committees. They enable an energetic committee to secure for tenants instant and adequate relief from profiteering landlords. Whether these laws attain in any given locality their full degree of usefulness depends chiefly on the integrity and activity of the local rent committees.

As it conducted this campaign strictly in a spirit of fairness to all, avoiding personalities even where opponents of its efforts were concerned, so now does the Boston American decline to view other than with optimism the future results to be obtained by the rent committees. Until now these bodies have been without power to enforce justice. Henceforth they have that power.

The Legislature in enacting the bills has shifted the burden of protecting the rent payers to the shoulders of the rent committees. The committees must not fail.

Exportation of Coal Should Be Stopped Temporarily

Senator Walsh has called our attention to the impending coal scarcity. Indeed, it is not impending. It is really present with embarrassing results. Governor Coolidge, after consulting with men in the trade, agrees that Senator Walsh's estimate of the critical character of the situation is correct.

Senator Walsh and Governor Coolidge suggest that an embargo be placed upon the coal exported abroad. They declare that, through the inefficiency of the new private management of our railroads, we are not receiving in New England anything like our pre-war consumption of coal. Yet we are exporting to England and other countries for the purpose of keeping up their industries the full pre-war exportation of coal.

It needs only the statement of these facts to show the necessity for stopping in some way, at least temporarily, the exportation of coal.

Future of Country Depends on Hard Work and Saving

Ninety-nine men out of a hundred who amass reasonable competences, and at least ninety men out of a hundred who get rich, arrive at that comfortable state of human affairs by the hardest sort of work and by thrift.

A few men get rich dishonestly and a few men get rich by chance, but the only dependable way of getting together enough to live on is by hard work and saving.

Hard work in this case means not only long hours of labor, but the possession and use of imagination, courage, self-sacrifice and self-denial.

Any man who wants to get enough together to live on in his old age can do so if he is enough in earnest in his desire to work to that end.

The future of this country in the next few years and the welfare of the people in it, will depend very largely on how much the average citizen has saved out of the high wages and big profits of recent years.

Detroit Takes Steps to Solve the Auto Problem

The people of the city of Detroit probably know more about automobiles than the people of any other city in the world. They make automobiles there and the motor car traffic on the streets of Detroit is tremendous.

Detroit has just made a move in the matter of protection of children and pedestrians which Boston might well follow.

The police, municipal judges, and agents of the prosecutors, have agreed that every motor car driver who causes injury to persons in traffic accidents will be jailed, vigorously prosecuted, and if convicted prohibited from future driving for at least one year in addition to the penalty for the immediate accident involved.

The Prayer of the Profiteers

By George Ray Sargent

LORD of the ever-mounting cost of things,
To Thee we come to pray for our increase.
We ask Thee to confound the foe that brings
Disaster to our plans for greater wealth—
As we are not in business for our health,
These tales of falling values, Lord, must cease.

CONFOUND, Oh Lord, the traitor merchant who
Has set his face against the rising tide
Of costs, and takes upon himself a few
Of those great burdens that have long been borne
Upon the shoulders of the people. He's a thorn
Thy chosen people, Lord, can't long abide.

TORMENT, Oh Lord, the minion of the press
Who foments trouble for thine eager flock.
He spreads disaster, simply that his mess
Of pottage may come cheaper to his board,
Nor cares he if the wolves eat up our hoard,
He gives us, Lord, a most unpleasant shock.

SUSTAIN us, Lord, and make the people meek;
Humility becomes the common race of men.
Teach them, Oh, Lord, to turn the other cheek,
That we may always take away their means
And make them dig more deeply in their jeans,
Then we will send aloft our loud AMEN!

NOTHING LIKE A SHAVE

"Usually a man who does not care how he looks does not care what he does."

Lots of truth in that quotation.

You know from experience that you feel less competent and less responsible in any position if you are not dressed in keeping with your work.

No man has the same vigor and confidence in himself when he is badly in need of a shave and is wearing a soiled collar.

Isn't it the truth?

However, it is just as bad to be dressed too foppishly as it is to be the reverse, for you never can do your best in anything if you must keep thinking of your clothes.

A fop is always conscious of his dress.

But why go to the extreme in either direction?

And why, because you are married, show less pride in making a good appearance.

Your wife is more anxious than you are that you should present a neat and clean-cut front to the world, and she thought a lot about your good looks and spic-and-spanness while you were courting her, and she knows she is blamed now for your untidy dress and habits.

By K. C. B.

DEAR K. C. B.—On a subway train two young ladies got on at the station following mine. There were no vacant seats, and they stood up in front of me. One of them had a paper and read your column and talked of you and of how much she liked your column. Then she spoke of the young man in the seat in front of her (meaning me) and wondered how long before I'd give one of them my seat. Following that whenever the train stopped or started she accidentally stepped on my foot. She also wondered if I would stand if the "Star Spangled Banner" was played.

Now, dear K. C. B., she did not hurt my foot, as it was a new artificial leg that I had just received from the War Risk Insurance. But she did hurt my feelings, and if you would tell her through your column that I left my good leg on the heights of Sedan in the Argonne Forest, and that it still hurts me to stand on the artificial leg, perhaps she will forgive me for not offering her my seat.

J. J. S.

Fifth Narfiss, Second Division.

DEAR J. J. S.
IF THE girl reads this,
SHE'S GOING to feel badly.
AND OF course she should.
AND AS she reads my column,
AND SEEMS to like me,
THEN I must assume,
THAT WE are friends.
AND BECAUSE it's unlikely,
IT WILL ever happen.
YOU'LL SEE her again.
I HUMBLY come,
AND IN her place,
AND HER behalf,
I ASK your pardon.
FOR HER thoughtless words,
AND WITH that done,
I WANT to tell you,
ABOUT THE other day,
WHEN I busted a garter,
AND FIRST thing I knew,
MY LIGHT gray sock,
HAD ENTWINED itself,
ABOUT THE top,
OF MY low tan shoes,
AND FOR how many blocks,
IT WAS hanging down,
AND DRAGGING along
I REALLY don't know,
BUT I discovered it,
IN A subway station,
AND PULLED it up,
AND GOT on the train,
AND FOUND a seat,
AND LADIES got on,
AND I didn't stand up,
AND TRIED to look weak,
SO THEY'D think I was sick,
AND I sat quite still,
AND THE sock stayed up,
TILL I got off the train,
AND YOUR new leg,
AND MY busted garter,
OUGHT TO be a warning,
TO THOUGHTLESS women,
AND THEN there's suspenders,
AND SO many things,
THAT MIGHT be busted,
SO WE couldn't stand up.

I THANK you.

FREEDOM OF ERIN ISSUE IN COMING ELECTION

By Col. Arthur Lynch

(Noted physician-author, who was colonel of an Irish brigade on the Boer side in the South African war and colonel of a British regiment in June, 1918.)

LONDON, June 3.—The Irish question is not simply a domestic matter for England; it is an American problem as well. It is becoming—and I believe this is the view of Sir Auckland Geddes—a world problem, and it must be solved in terms that correspond to this conception.

The approach of the presidential election in America gives a fillip to certain movements. The Republicans and the Democrats are fairly even in strength, and if a great block of votes, determined, for instance, by Irish and German co-operation, were to be thrown on one side or the other, the effect might be decisive on the election.

The saying of Rufus Choate, once American Ambassador, may be remembered here. He said he was going to Ireland in order to see the only English-speaking community not bossed by the Irish!

This remark has, I believe, more force than when it was uttered. The coming presidential election will be fought on a number of new issues. The World War and the treaties that followed have disturbed the interests of all the people in Europe; and so it happens that the usual difference of policy between Republicans and Democrats will be of less importance than the settlement of Greek claims, the adjustment of the dispute between the Jugo-Slavs and the Italians, the consolidation of Poland, the treatment of Germany, and last, but not least, self-determination of Ireland.

No candidate can afford to ignore these considerations, and as both sides will bid for votes, it is likely that one or other party will be committed to some policy of more active intervention than hitherto in Irish affairs.

Therefore, it seems to me that instead of rebuking the States for manifesting an interest in the Irish question, politicians should give great weight to American opinion in any attempt to arrive at a settlement of the Irish question. The other alternative is friction, not only on this subject but on all sorts of other points—Egypt, Persia, trade rivalries—and bickerings between the great English-speaking powers, and this is the last condition to be desired.

To the Editor

A Robin Hood

Editor Boston American:

Years ago I remember reading many articles about the Villa-Carranza episode. It seems that Villa instituted a successful revolution, and, realizing that he was not a proficient statesman, placed Carranza into the presidency. Later, Carranza rewarded his benefactor by dismissing him from the position of chief of staff, placed another in authority and proceeded to run the presidency to suit his personal motives. Immediately after this, the United States recognized the government set up by Carranza.

If these statements are correct, should we condemn Pancho Villa for becoming incensed at the United States; or censure him for forgetting every principle, other than a mad desire to seek vengeance on any and all persons? I have always considered Villa as a second Robin Hood, and I have always felt that his wild excesses were the sum and substance of a broken heart. His ideals, it seemed, had been crushed by the people whom he felt should see through Carranza's treachery. No wonder that Villa is a power with the people. He has proven himself to be a man, from the Mexican standpoint, by being an honest bandit.

Power to Bring Justice

Editor Boston American:

As an individual clerk in Boston Postoffice, I desire to thank you for the wonderful help you gave us postal employes in securing a living wage from the government. Until you voluntarily took up our cause, our chances seemed hopeless, and, now that victory is in sight, we realize what a tremendous amount of assistance you were to us; in fact, that you won the victory for us.

I am thanking you for myself, but I know that every other employe feels as I do, that the Boston American has once more demonstrated its power to bring justice to a deserving cause.

LITTLE EROS WINKS AT OUR OLD EARTH

By Garrett P. Serviss

A CORRESPONDENT asks for information about the strange asteroid, or minor planet, named Eros, which is one of the greatest curiosities of the sky and in some ways one of the greatest mysteries as well.

Eros was discovered by a German astronomer, Witt, in 1898, who found that some unknown object was making a trail in his photographs. The rapidity of its motion showed that for a celestial body the object was very near the earth.

It was then some 16,000,000 miles away, but at rare intervals it comes within about 13,000,000 miles. That, as was afterward found out, had been its distance in 1894, when nobody noticed it, and that will again be its distance in 1931, when everybody will, no doubt, take a look at it, for it may then be visible to the naked eye.

The first thing that set astronomers agog over Eros was the extraordinary eccentricity of its orbit combined with its periodical close approaches to the earth, because by coming so close it affords an unrivalled opportunity to get a fundamental measurement of the size of the solar system.

A Valuable Visitor

The astronomer needs to have but one actual measure of distance among the bodies circling around the sun in order to enable him to calculate all the other distances. The nearer to the earth the body chosen for this purpose chances to be, the easier and more certain, of course, is the progress of measurement. The moon will not serve, because it does not revolve independently around the sun, but accompanies the earth. (There is, however, a recondite method of utilizing the moon for this purpose, into which I shall not enter.)

Perhaps you have supposed that astronomers already know all the distances in the solar system, but that is not so, for, while they know them to a close degree of approximation, they do not know them with the accuracy that they desire ultimately to attain. Hence, in 1931, there will probably be a great ado over Eros, when once more it slides up to within 13,000,000 miles of the earth, which, astronomically considered, is almost as good as an embrace.

Eros is a very little body to be an independent member of the planetary system. It is not over twenty-five miles in diameter at the most—a mere fly among the planets, and, while the astronomers were discussing the shape of its orbit and its periodical buzzing so near the earth, it gave them a shock by distinctly winking in their telescopic faces.

It looks like a little lamp among the stars, and its light was seen to vary to such an extent that in the course of about two and one-half hours it would become more than threefold brighter or three-fold fainter. This implies that it is not a body of the regulation planetary shape, that of a sphere or spheroid, but that it may be a mere fragment of irregular form, turning over and over as it revolves around the sun, like a dime sinking in water. Sometimes it shows these variations with much regularity, and sometimes it shows no variation at all.

About Their Shape

The fact that three or four of the other asteroids also exhibit at times similar, though slighter, variations of brightness has been regarded as a reason for surmising that all of these singular little bodies may be fragments of a destroyed planet.

As to the precise shape of Eros nothing is known, because its outlines cannot be seen, but, according to some astronomers, it may have the form of a dumbbell, while others think it is shaped like a sausage, and still others that it may consist of two bodies revolving close together and sometimes getting one behind the other from our point of view.

The correspondent asks what would probably happen if the orbit of Eros became still more eccentric, so as, perhaps, to cause a collision with the earth. Such an accident there is no reason to anticipate. But, if it did happen, there would unquestionably be a tremendous disaster at and around the place of impact.
